BRAIN AILMENT KILLS JEAN HARLOW!

FAIR Enough

Go Back to Ireland,
Mr. Ryan

By
Westbrook
Pegler

WASHINGTON.—Letter to Mr. Pat Ryan, stock clerk at $22 a week, with a wife and four children, living at 1730 Beach avenue, Bronx, New York:

Dear Mr. Ryan:
So you won $150,000 on the Irish hospital lottery on the English Derby, did you? Feel pretty good about it, do you? Well, wake up, brother. You are just dreaming. Because by the time the federal and state income tax departments get through with you, you won't have $150,000 but $83,214.

You can deduct $2500 for yourself and Mrs. Ryan and $400 each for the kids, which is $4100. After that you begin to shower down to New York state. You will pay $380 on the first $9000, and seven per cent on your net income above that figure, and when you have done that and think you are all square, they will put you through the wringer again just for luck, extracting a special one per cent on the whole net amount. You will pay New York state $11,422 out of your $150,000, and then you will settle down to real serious business with the federal.

The federal will clip you for $55,564, but they are smart about one thing, at least. They won't tax you on the money you have already surrendered the state. You can't say the same thing for the state. They make you pay nine per cent on the amount you will pay the United States government of approximately $4082 tax on money which you really never will receive, as it will be earmarked for the national treasury.

NOT KOSHER.
So you come up with $83,000, not $150,000, even though lotteries are illegal in this country and the deal whereby you won the $150,000 (See PEGLER, Page 8)

LONDON SOCIETY GIRL MISSING

LONDON. (AP)—Scotland Yard disclosed today a nationwide search was under way for beautiful Diana Batty, 21-year-old society girl and aspirant for motion picture stardom, who disappeared June 1 after being mysteriously slashed on the forehead.

"Didi," as she was known to her friends, was last seen leaving the home of her childhood friend, Viscountess Long, with whom she had been staying for the coronation season.

The blonde beauty is the fiancée of Michael Asquith, the son of the Hon. Herbert Asquith and Lady Cynthia.

Lewis Pledges CIO Aid On Wage-Hour Measure

PIPE PUFFING tends to calm the tense situation in the steel industry, at least as far as Tom Girdler, chairman of Republic Steel, is concerned. Here he is shown puffing away during a conference in Cleveland with his executives on the strike problem.

'Labor Holiday' Hits Lansing

By the Associated Press

A general labor holiday was called in Lansing, Mich., and garbage collectors and incinerator maintenance employees went on strike in Providence, R. I., today as at least 70,000 idle workers looked to presidential intervention in the widespread steel strike. Several thousand persons marched behind banners of the United Automobile Workers of America and blockaded a square surrounding Michigan's capitol building at Lansing in protest against the steel strike.

St. Bernards Will Die for Killing Girl

GRENOBLE, France. (AP)—The famous dogs of the Mount St. Bernard monastery were condemned to death today because one of them recently killed a 10-year-old girl.

Several of the huge dogs have been destroyed since Marie-Anne Bremont, skiing in the hills where the dogs have rescued many an Alpine traveler, was mauled to death by one of the breed.

Dr. Jean Bremont, father of the child, was understood to have withheld legal action against the monastery in return for the monks' promise they would stop breeding the dogs.

The St. Bernards have been raised at the monastery for generations.

ARTIST KNOTT DIES

ST. LOUIS. (AP)—Jean Knott, 54, artist and creator of the "Penny Ante" cartoons, and former member of the King Features, Inc., died Saturday after a brief illness.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU— BY BOB BURNS

I've talked to quite a few moving picture stars out here in Hollywood and put near all of 'em tell me that their greatest thrill was the pride and joy their parents got out of their success. I only had one relative that ever left home to go out in the world and make good and that was my Cousin Milford. He was the dreamer sort of a boy and everybody around home thought he'd never amount to much, but one day he left. He said he was going to the city where his talents could spread. As the years went by and his parents didn't hear from him, they still got a lot of consolation out of knowin' that it was because he was so taken up with heavy business affairs he just didn't have time to write.

Finally one night, 14 years later, his parents was sittin' in front of the fire thinkin' about their successful son, when they got a letter from him. They tore it open and the letter says, "Dear Maw and Paw: I am comin' home at last. Meet me at the old Mill bridge at midnight. Bring a shirt, coat, and a pair of pants—I've got a hat."

BUT OPPOSES 'FIXING' OF PAY SCALE

Such Provisions Would Hurt Bargaining, He Tells Committee

WASHINGTON. (AP)—John L. Lewis threw the general support of his Committee for Industrial Organization behind the administration's wage and hour legislation today. He opposed however, what he called "wage-fixing" contrary to "American precedent and practice."

He made it clear that what he principally objected to was any government control, or regulation, of wages above bare minimum pay rates. Illustrating, he said he would not want the government to attempt to determine a "fair wage" in the mining industry and possibly order a reduction.

Wants Basic Wage
"That would destroy all our efforts at collective bargaining," he asserted.

The burly, square-jawed labor leader told a joint congressional committee that a nation-wide minimum standard of wages and hours was necessary to increase purchasing power and spread employment, but quickly added:

"We should adhere, I am convinced, to the minimum basic wage as a fundamental right of employees, and not confuse or impede progress by experiments in wage-fixing as such."

His Objection
He said the part of the measure to which he objected would authorize a labor standards board to establish "a fair wage" commensurate with "the value of the service or class of service rendered" in industries where collective bargaining is ineffective.

"It may be that the intent is the laudable one, based on British and Canadian experience, to require all workers in an occupation or industry to conform to the wage standards established by a substantial majority of the workers in an industry," Lewis testified.

But he said it is, in his view, a procedure to say the least very confusing and extremely difficult of application.

Lewis suggested minimum pay should be 40 cents an hour, for a 35-hour week, of $14 a week. He noted that the annual wage under these standards would be about $700, which he described as a "material benefit to thousands possibly even millions of American workers," but warned:

Gives Warning
"It would be a calamity if such a wage minimum as that referred to should be in any way construed as a living wage."

The one-time miner suggested undesirable rigidity in labor standards could be avoided by giving the board power to expand the work to 40 hours or reduce it to 30 hours, whenever such changes may seem justified.

He firmly opposed the establishment of lower pay for women than for men, or any wage differential based on geography.

ACCEPT CHILD LABOR CHANGE

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A senate judiciary subcommittee approved today the proposed Vandenberg constitutional amendment to prohibit child labor.

The amendment, offered by Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), to meet major objections raised against the child labor amendment now before the states, would permit congress to limit, or prohibit, employment of persons under 16 years of age. The pending amendment would cover children up to 18 years of age.

WILL SUBMIT BUDGET ON JULY 1

Finances in Excellent
Shape Despite Cost
Of Sewer Repair

Santa Ana city officials began scrutinizing figures with considerable interest today.

The figures are the ones they will put in the city budget for the next fiscal year, which starts when this month ends.

And from all present indications, the city will end this fiscal year on June 30 with a fat cash balance on hand, probably as much as $150,000.

Unexpected Expenses
This is about as much as the city had on hand at the close of the last fiscal year, when the total was about $152,000. City finances are in excellent shape, despite the fact that emergency repair work on the outfall sewer has cost the city thousands of unexpected dollars.

City Auditor Lloyd Banks said today he will submit the tentative budget to the city council by July 1. Last year it was submitted to the council on June 24. After the council gets the tentative budget, members check the figures and proposed expenditures carefully. Then the budget, as revised, is adopted.

Higher Total Seen
There is no definite date for the formal adoption of the budget.

The total city budget for this year amounted to $648,579. Because of the big expenditures necessary for repair of the joint outfall sewer, it appeared likely that the total will be higher next year.

The city council will set the tax rate by or before the last Tuesday in August. The tax rate in effect this year is $1.50.

KELLOGG GIVES HALF MILLION

ST. PAUL. (AP)—Frank B. Kellogg, of St. Paul, who as secretary of state under President Coolidge was co-author of the Kellogg-Briand peace pact, today gave Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., $500,000 for the establishment of a foundation for the study of international relations.

The foundation will be known as the Frank B. Kellogg Foundation for Education in International Relations.

AMELIA STARTS ATLANTIC HOP

NATAL, Brazil. (AP)—Amelia Earhart headed over the South Atlantic in a light rain today for Dakar, Senegal, her goal on the African continent in her intended flight around the world.

She left here on the 1900-mile flight at 1:16 a. m., and radioed more than four hours later that "everything is going fine."

$50,000 Blaze At Film Studio

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Victory Pictures Corp. estimated today that fire caused $50,000 damage in its block-long studios Sunday. A large sound stage was destroyed and the blaze spread to a scene dock, generator rooms and nearby wooden structures.

PLANE FOUND ASK OPENING IN UTAH OF FOURTH

Long-Missing Airliner
Broken to Bits; Seek Bodies of Seven

ALPINE, Utah. (AP)—Encircled by guards with orders to "shoot or sight," crews scraped together today pitifully strewn wreckage of a huge sky liner and then dug into glacial snow for the bodies of its seven occupants, two of them women, killed six months ago.

Four men who attempted to carry away "souvenirs" said they were shot at three times.

M. G. Wenger, postal inspector, had said grimly shortly after the wreckage was found that the half mile area over which the wreckage is scattered is "closed to unapproved visitors." He said guards have been ordered to shoot on sight at skulkers.

A large shipment of jewelry lay exposed to the gaze of the first searchers," Wenger told a reporter, adding "I could give you a real story about that shipment—but I won't."

Four men almost simultaneously came upon the shattered airplane Sunday as they scrambled over a

Fire Laddies Rush Out as Church Burns Its Mortgage

Orange Methodists burned the mortgage on their church yesterday.

They wouldn't have been especially surprised if the sun started shining a bit more brightly and birds started to sing as the ceremony opened, but they were somewhat taken aback when the fire whistle let out an unearthly screech, instead.

The ceremony went ahead as scheduled, however, but the happy church folk were more upset than ever when the whistle tooted again as the last flames died, the department's method of telling townsfolk it had conquered a blaze.

It was all a coincidence. Just as the ceremony started a call was received to battle a grass fire at 416 North Orange street. The blaze was quickly quenched and the "all's quiet" signal sounded

FILM GLAMOR GIRL TAKEN SUDDENLY

Week's Illness Fatal to Thrice-Married Star;
Powell at Bedside

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Jean Harlow, platinum blonde film actress, died at 11:37 this morning at the Good Samaritan hospital. She was 26 years old.

Dr. E. C. Fishbaugh, her physician, said she never regained consciousness after lapsing into a coma this morning. She was stricken with uremic poisoning that spread to her brain. Placed in an oxygen tent, two blood transfusions were performed, and intravenous solutions were administered in an effort to save her.

Powell at Bedside

With her at the bedside was her mother, Mrs. Jean Bello, and William Powell, screen star who has been her constant companion at social events in recent months.

"Death was caused by the complications of uremic poisoning, Dr. Fishbaugh said. "Miss Harlow never rallied after the serious relapse she suffered last night. The poisoning spread to the brain, causing it to swell. Miss Harlow was unconscious for some time before death occurred."

Mrs. Bello and Powell, stunned by the sudden complications and quick death, left the hospital together.

Stricken Last Week

Miss Harlow was stricken last week with influenza and a gall bladder infection.

Only a few days ago the actress' condition was said to be greatly improved. At her bedside, it was said she was expected to report back for a motion picture assignment in a week or 10 days.

SUN TO HIDE TOMORROW

A small portion of the eclipse of the sun tomorrow will be visible in Orange county at 11:06 a. m.

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Naval observers and National Geographic society astronomers stood vigil today over delicate instruments installed on a tiny island in the mid-Pacific for tomorrow's total eclipse of the sun, the longest in 12 centuries.

From barren, hitherto uninhabited Canton island, one of the few dots of land in the path of the complete shadow, came wireless reports that the scientists expected unexcelled visibility at the moment the moon obscures the sun at 2:06 p. m., Eastern Standard time.

The American encampment was ready to photograph and study the eclipse for 213 seconds in an effort to solve the mysteries of the sun's strange outer light fringe, the corona.

Washington scientists said the eclipse would reach its maximum duration of totality—seven minutes and four seconds—over the Pacific hundreds of miles east of Canton island.

At that point, from an anchored boat observatory, scientists from Franklin Institute of Philadelphia and Princeton University will study the phenomenon.

On the western coast of Peru another expedition, the Hayden Planetarium-Grace Party from New York, will view the total eclipse just before sunset.

$24,000 S. A. FLOOD PROJECT GETS 'GO' SIGNAL'

CITY'S COST IS SET AT $2016

Jobs Will Be Given to 76 Men on WPA Job Just Approved

Work on a new $24,000 flood control project for Santa Ana will be launched in the near future.

Presidential approval of a WPA project to provide funds and men for the work has been granted. It was announced today by Dan Mulholland, head of the county WPA construction division.

The government will provide $22,433 of the cost, while the city of Santa Ana, as sponsor, will contribute $2016. A total of 76 men will be given work for five months on the project.

Work planned includes building drainage ditches from Fifteenth, Bristol, Flower and Delhi streets to Santiago creek, from First to Fifth street west of English street and improvement of Santiago creek crossing on Bristol street. Another project just given presidential approval is for painting the San Clemente city hall at a cost of $1714 to the government and $527 to the sponsor. The project will give work to 11 men for about two months.

Buccaneers Sail Yacht to Catalina

The Buccaneers of Santa Ana Junior college went sailing over the bounding main on their annual yachting party yesterday.

A party of about 60 Buccaneer members and their guests took the trip to Catalina. They left Los Angeles harbor aboard the Comet at 12:30.

Lunch and dinner were had on the island and the party spent the evening dancing at the Casino. They returned about midnight.

Quiz Blanks 'Crash Gates' At Sheriff's Office

The sheriff's office, that last citadel of rugged individualism where the supervisors are concerned, was bitten by the questionaire bug today.

Deputies, jailers, secretaries and men-of-all-work were looking over copies of the supervisors' little improvement on the "Meet Your Neighbor" third-degree, and preparing to fill them out.

Such questions as "how much time do you spend on the job" and "what fees, if any" were to be filled out. The sheriff himself passed out the blanks this morning, looking like Santa Claus at Christmas time except for the whiskers.

Sheriff Jackson, however, may or may not be filling out his own special blank himself. Since the supervisors indicated he was one of the main targets of the question-and-answer broadside, they were waiting more for his answers than for his deputies' replies.

"I gave them to the boys this morning," was all the sheriff would say.

CLAIM RADIO TREATMENT 'FRAUD'

Charges that Dr. Anna E. Walberg, Fullerton chiropractor, used a "fake, fraud and quack radio device" to treat the late Arthur George E. Morgan were filed in court here today.

The charges were made by Anna Windhorst as executrix of Morgan's estate in answer to a complaint in which Dr. Morgan's son, Thor Walberg, sought to collect $718 medical fees as assignee of Dr. Walberg, and asked $1375 for his own services.

Radio Diagnosis
Raymond Thompson, attorney for the estate, at the same time filed a complaint in the justice court here seeking to collect $588.13 which it was alleged Morgan loaned to the Walbergs.

Dr. Walberg represented "that a certain contrivance consisting of coils, condensers, wires, dials and other parts, having somewhat the appearance of a radio, was capable of diagnosing any possible human ailment by tuning in and ascertaining the wave length of said ailment which emanated from the body of the patient," the answer asserted.

It continued, she claimed that "with another device she could send out radio waves of the proper frequency any distance whatever and charged with some curative characteristics of quality to suit and cure the ailment which had been so diagnosed."

Absent Treatment

The executor's complaint said Morgan was suffering from a heart ailment and paid large sums of money for treatments, many of which were given without his going to the doctor's office.

"Said contrivances, method, of diagnosis and course of treatment is wholly unrecognized by the medical profession and the scientific world generally and are fake, fraud and quack devices and comprise a system to cheat and defraud the public generally," the answer charged.

MORE ABOUT PLANE

ridge on bleak, cliff-cluttered Lone peak five miles northeast of Alpine and only 25 miles southeast of Salt Lake City, goal of the ill-fated transport when it crashed last Dec. 15.

No trace of bodies was visible, said the plane's finders, who hope to claim a $1000 reward offered by the airline, Western Air Express. "We four started to look for bodies and more things," said Emery Andrews, young farmer. "But we saw two guys slip away with a piece of the plane and we thought they were going to heat us to the reward. So we hustled right in to camp."

The discovery was made about two miles above a camp set up only five days ago as search headquarters after two Alpine natives picked up letters identified as from the plane's cargo.

Mail Scattered
"One shoe lay near the crest of the ridge where the ship crashed," Andrews continued. "Air mail lay scattered everywhere, with tiny broken bits of wood, metal and clothes."

Seven sacks were taken up to the camp two days ago. Largest, single segment of debris found Sunday was part of a propeller. One mail bag remained in one piece, but it was ripped down its side and wind, which blows incessantly at that 10,000-foot elevation, had whisked its contents away.

Most bitterly ironic note of the tragedy was the location of the wreckage itself, only 20 feet from the ridge top over which the plane would have had clear sailing down to Utah's capital. Lost in fog and rain, the transport was 35 miles east of the regular Los Angeles-Salt Lake course.

Indications are, search leaders added, that the torn bodies were tossed over the cliff with the plane's tail to their burial in ice-encrusted snow beds from 20 to 30 feet thick.

Discovery of the plane ended the West's greatest air hunt—a hunt that extended over several states and cost Western Air Express uncounted thousands.

The 10-passenger, twin-motored Boeing transport departed Los Angeles for the north Dec. 14 at 11:15 p. m. Pacific time. It carried: Pilot S. J. Samson, Co-Pilot William Bogen and Stewardess Gladys Witt, all of Glendale; Mr. and Mrs. John F. Wolfe, Chicago newlyweds; Henry W. Edwards, Minneapolis; Carl Christopher, Dwight, Ill.; Mrs. F. Johnson and B. G. Mitchell of Los Angeles.

An hour and a half out of Los Angeles, the plane, due in Salt Lake at 4:10 a. m., stopped at Las Vegas, Nev., to discharge Mrs. Johnson and Mitchell. At 3:27 a. m., Mountain time, Pilot Samson, over Milford, Utah, 180 miles southwest of Salt Lake City, the last message from the ship, radioed "everything O. K." It was

NAME ELOISE HISKEY AT HORSE SHOW AS SALINAS RODEO ENTRY

WINNERS IN BOWL EVENT ARE TOLD

Show Here Is Assured As Annual Affair by Assistance Unit

Miss Eloise Hiskey, native daughter of Santa Ana and member of a pioneer family here, was chosen Saturday night to represent Orange county in the "Sweetheart of the Rodeo" contest at the Salinas rodeo at Salinas July 15 to 18.

She was chosen after horseman trials at the charity horse show sponsored by the Santa Ana Assistance league in the municipal bowl.

So successful was the show that members of the league said today a repetition of the event next year is virtually assured. While financial reports had not been compiled, it was certain that an adequate sum was secured to endow a child's bed at St. Joseph's hospital.

Gaited Horse Events
Committeewomen were to meet this afternoon to compile reports. Mrs. Thomas Meanley of Miramar was outstanding in the gaited horse events, winning firsts in the three-gaited and five-gaited events both afternoon and evening. With Miss Virginia Crabtree, of San Diego, she won the open three-gaited pair competition.

Most interesting from the spectator viewpoint were the stock horse events, which do not appear on the programs of many horse shows. Mrs. Mable Yorba's palomino mare, Nona, was winner of the ladies' class with Louise Moulton up, and in the men's class with Bill Gudman up. Nona also was judged best palomino in the show.

Field of 12
Miss Hiskey, who is graduating from Santa Ana High school this year, will be accompanied to Salinas by her mother, Mrs. Walter E. Hiskey, of McCloy street, Santa Ana. She was judged not only upon horsemanship, but on scholastic standing, healthful outdoor appearance and personality. She was chosen from a group of 12 girls from Orange county high schools.

Miss Hiskey, only 16 years of age, is prominent in girls' athletics here, and is planning to become a physical education teacher. She will attend Santa Ana Junior college or Pomona college next year. She is a member of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, Job's Daughters and Junior Ebell.

After a period of preliminary work, organization of retail clerks in Orange county will start in earnest tomorrow night when a big meeting is staged in the Labor temple, 402 West Fourth street, Santa Ana. The session is set for 8 p. m.

Harry Burman, president of the Retail Clerks Protective association of Orange county, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, called the meeting today.

Boyd Buffett, international organizer for the clerk's union, will attend the meeting to outline plans for the organization drive. The organization committee of the Long Beach unit of the union, comprised of 12 members, also will attend the meeting.

"This meeting," Burman said, "will be the nucleus of a drive that has yet been held, as it signals the opening of the forceful drive that will organize all retail clerks in all cities and towns of Orange county."

All Clerks Invited
The meeting concerns future working conditions and as the floor will be open for questions and discussion, it is expected that the meeting will be packed with interest and action. Every man or woman employed in retail selling should plan to be in attendance.

A man is continuing his organization work here despite an anonymous written threat he received last week, which was turned over to the police department for investigation.

M. C. A., $500 to the Ebell society of Santa Ana valley, and $2000 to her brother-in-law, Dr. D. W. Battin of Colton.

She was taken to the county hospital for first aid treatment to a gnawed ankle.

Ask Partition Of Midway City Area

Owners of an interest in 53 acres at Midway City have asked the superior court here to partition the property or order it sold.

The request was made by Wiley W. Justice and Rhoda Taylor in an action against Roy C. Justice, Laura Richhart, Martha Yost and Ben F. Justice. Each of the persons involved owns a one-sixth interest.

Because there is a house on the ranch, and because the land varies widely in value, the plaintiffs said they felt the best solution was to sell the property and divide the proceeds. Ben F. Tarver, Santa Ana attorney, represents the plaintiffs.

For five years she has presented her pupils in similar charity programs. This year's programs were divided into two groups, one a Baby Starlet review, and the other composed of dancers between the ages of 10 and 20.

Outstanding on Saturday night's bill were Miss Velma Stroud and Miss Lorraine Seavey, assistants of Miss Getty. The former gave an acrobatic routine on a revolving piano stool that won great applause, and the latter, who leaves this week on a professional dancing tour, performed a classical tap number and a fast-moving Spanish dance.

A special guest among the 1000 persons comprising the audience was Miss Dottie Remy, prominent Los Angeles dancer, who has just returned from a tour of European cities. She was introduced by Miss Getty.

Townsend News, Views

By
WALTER R. ROBB

The hearts and minds of many Townsends are troubled today. The news of the rift between Dr. Townsend and other leaders of the movement in Washington and in Chicago, was spread across the nation's newspapers Saturday and Sunday with black headlines. But cheer up, folks, all is not lost yet. It is inevitable in a great movement like our sailing through a sea of such troubled waters as is true of our affairs of government these days, should meet with retarding episodes. This is but one of the storms that must precede the eventual triumph of the Townsend plan movement.

We have been saying in our meetings for a long time: "The Townsend plan will succeed." Such things as have happened are a real test of whether we had any faith in our assertions or not, when we were giving the Townsend pledge. The question now comes to each of us: Did we really believe when we were taking that pledge, that the Townsend plan would succeed? Let's ask ourselves if the principles of the Townsend plan are right? If we can say in our hearts they are right, then we should still believe that the plan will eventually succeed. The fight may be longer than we anticipated, but if we keep on fighting for its adoption we will win. Let's say to ourselves, with a renewed determination: "The Townsend plan will succeed."

Not only have we in that pledge been asserting our faith in the Townsend plan and its principles, but we have been pledging our allegiance to them. Also we have been saying: that we were pledging our allegiance to its founder, Dr. Francis E. Townsend. I wonder did we really mean that? It doesn't take much loyalty to be true to a leader when everything is going the way we think it should. The real test of loyalty comes when there is real need of it. Every real reform movement in the history of the world has had to sail over tempestuous waters at some time or other. Perhaps Dr. Townsend hasn't shown the greatest wisdom possible in the present crisis, but at least he is sincerely interested in the general welfare of the people. He has a heart which has been moved with compassion toward the people because of the hardships they have been suffering. Without him there wouldn't have been any Townsend plan. He has lifted the nation into a sentiment favorable to old age security.

There would be no national security measure in the statutes of the nation had it not been for the pressure that has been exerted by the doctor and his movement. And you folks in California who anticipate receiving larger state aged assistance shortly are under obligation to the Townsend movement for the hope that you now have. It was the doctor's movement that made possible the sending of Harry C. Westover to the state senate to become the chairman of the committee on social service and welfare. Clyde Watson and Thomas Kuchel can thank Dr. Townsend's organization's support for having exerted the balance of power with sufficient force to send them to the state assembly, and give to them opportunity to support such social legislation in California as will now likely become the law. And Harry R. Sheppard would not be in Washington today with the limelight of favorable publicity shining upon him, had it not been that God poured the inspiration of the Townsend plan into the heart and life of Dr. Townsend. These men have been taking the pledge of allegiance to the Townsend plan and its founder. This is a testing time for us and them. Let's not forget—any of us—that Doctor Francis E. Townsend is the National Townsend plan founder—and our leader—it's to him and his plan that we owe our allegiance. He may be wrong in the position he has taken—and he may be right—time will tell—but in the meantime he needs and deserves our allegiance.

In the Townsend speakers' and club presidents' meeting held Saturday afternoon in the city of Riverside, composed of leaders from over the 19th district, and in the Orange County Townsend Club Officers' association, which met Saturday evening in Santa Ana, both organizations went on record as advocating that the question which has agitated national headquarters should not be discussed in our club assemblies. We must remember that our clubs have in their membership folks who strongly differ as to the advisability of following out President Roosevelt's desire to reorganize the supreme court body. This matter being highly controversial although not really partisan politics, could result in no good to the clubs if discussed. Club presidents should see that this attitude is adhered to in all club gatherings.

Oceanview Townsend club will meet at 8:30 tomorrow evening in the cafeteria of the grammar school building for a pot-luck. Bring your own table service and a covered dish. Mrs. Arlington Lewis says "a very interesting program has been planned. Members and friends are urged to attend."

Santa Ana Club No. 4 is meeting at 7:30 tomorrow evening in the Church of Christ at Walnut and Broadway, according to W. A. Moomaw, president. Club No. 6 is dismissing its usual meeting and joining with No. 4's meeting. Dis-

NEW SCIENCE GROUPS ARE FORMED

BOSTON, Mass.—Progress of Christian Science expressed in the organization and recognition of 59 new churches and societies; in sales increases of 66 per cent for the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science; in an increasingly popular thought as reflected by legislative bodies when handling measures involving medical and religious freedom; and in much good healing work, featured reports today by church officers at the Annual Meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist.

The election of Judge Clifford P. Smith of Newton, Mass., as church president for the coming year, and of Edward L. Ripley of Brookline as treasurer, and Ezra W. Since 1932 he has been editor of The Mother Church's bureau of history and records.

He also had the privilege of rendering particular services under the direction of our leader, Mary Baker Eddy.

Judge Smith declared in his address that "To insure its strength and success, an organized movement requires (1) a good purpose clearly stated, (2) an intelligent plan for achieving this purpose, (3) active co-operation in accordance with the plan by the persons who compose the movement.

"The Christian Science movement has the first of these essentials in our Leader's writings on the nature and purpose of our Church. The second of these essentials (a practical plan conceived in wisdom) we have in our Church Manual. The third essential can be restated for our movement as active and united efforts to communicate, demonstrate, and propagate the Science of Mind for healing. For this essential, the responsibility rests on all Christian Scientists collectively and individually. The obligation to prove by its effects that our religion deserves its name is not limited to listed practitioners; this obligation extends to all who are enrolled as Christian Scientists."

The fact that the Christian Science denomination has 2781 branches was cited and Miss M. Rosamond Wright, Manager of the Department of Branches and Practitioners, reported further for the year, "God growth in our movement is shown through the organization and recognition of fifty-nine new churches and societies as branches of The Mother Church, and six new university organizations. Twenty-five of these branches are in Europe, thirty in America, two in Australasia, one in Africa, and one in South America."

The Christian Science Board of Directors, in its message read by the retiring chairman, Mrs. Nelvia E. Ritchie, told Christian Scientists everywhere, "The inspiring reports and testimonies of healing that have come to this Board during the past year give abundant proof of work well done, of progress throughout the movement—give evidence of obedience to Principle, and bear witness that the truth Jesus demonstrated is again understood and made manifest on earth today. While these evidences of progress give cause for rejoicing and we humbly bow our heads in gratitude to God for these proofs of His power and presence, yet as students of Christian Science we all realize that greater works are before us."

Duty and Privilege
"It is our sacred duty and privilege to uphold righteous government and to know that in reality divine Mind, with its attributes of intelligence, wisdom, justice, and mercy, always guides and controls the avenues and channels through which government is expressed. As we look upon the apparent unrest and fermentation in the affairs of the world today, it is heartening and comforting to know that by obedience to the teachings of our Master we can be conscious of the government of divine Principle, and actually see this government made manifest in human affairs and universal peace established."

William M. Bartlett, Secretary of the Trustees under the Will of Mary Baker Eddy, reported that sales of Mrs. Eddy's writings in 1936 increased 66 per cent over sales in 1935. An accounting of

Ku Klux Klan Gathers In Public Ceremony In South

The fiery cross yet burns in the Southland and the knights of the Ku Klux Klan yet gather by night. Here initiates are shown as they were sworn into the Klan at a meeting near Atlanta, Ga. The meeting was said to have been the third of its kind held publicly by Fulton (Atlanta) county knights in 33 years.

expenditures in excess of $200,000 during the year ended April 30 was also rendered. In fulfillment of the purpose of the will the items for which this fund was used included assisting 33 churches and societies in erecting, purchasing or remodeling buildings; helping churches with lecture activities; and for free distribution of Christian Science literature.

In the report of the Manager of Committees on Publication, the Hon. C. Augustus Norwood declared: "During the year, secular newspapers published approximately one hundred thousand excerpts from our Lesson-Sermons, each of which showed that Christian Science is based on the Bible. Radio stations carried some nine thousand religious programs, each of which included passages from the Bible and from Mrs. Eddy's writings. Secular newspapers reprinted about twelve thousand religious articles from The Christian Science Monitor, and more than two hundred and fifty radio stations now carry 'The Monitor Views the News.'"

"We are glad to report that public thought, which is reflected in legislative bodies, has become sufficiently free from prejudice so that Committees have been able to prevent the passage of many measures which would have restricted the rights of Christian Scientists."

Healing Ministry
The place of Christian Science periodicals in carrying on healing ministry, disseminating inspiration for humanity that it may find relief from its burden of sickness and sin, featured the report of The Christian Science Publishing Society, presented by Roland R. Harrison, Manager. Mrs. Eddy's statement on page 271 of Miscellaneous Writings was quoted, that students of Christian Science should take our magazine, work for it, write for it, and read it. This applies to all the periodicals, it was concluded.

Judge Frederick C. Hill, Chairman of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, reported 3216 lectures had been delivered during the year ended April 30. Of these lectures, 53 were given in Africa, 54 in Australasia, seven in Hawaii, China, Japan and Manila, one in the City of Mexico, eight in Bermuda, Canal Zone and West Indies, 242 in Great Britain and Ireland, 129 in Continental Europe and Scandinavia, and 272 in Canada, the United States and Alaska.

"The press has been very generous in contributing space for the publication of lecture reports," Judge Hill declared. Edward L. Ripley, Church treasurer, expressed gratitude for the increased individual activity of North by members of The Mother church and added that "in disbursing the funds so generously contributed for flood relief, excellent service was rendered by the Committees on Publication and the various relief workers. That Mother church extended was greatly appreciated is evidenced by the following messages among the many received:

"One expressed gratitude for the loving service rendered to both Scientists and non-Scientists. 'I shall always be mindful of the joyful manner in which this assistance was given when no other help was obtainable.'"

International Appeal
"A third said: 'The manifestation of joy and brotherly love by the workers... is most inspiring and is noticed and spoken of in praise by persons knowing little or nothing of Christian Science.'"

"A publisher who would not even advertise our lectures, was so impressed by assistance given him that he has since been carrying Lesson-Sermon excerpts, and has offered to carry a full lecture report."

In the report of the clerk, Ezra W. Palmer, attention was drawn to the fact that the instructions for filling out applications for membership in The Mother church are now available in 11 languages. "The Mother church, built on the Rock, Christ, is a mighty power for righteousness," he declared. "It is leavening, transforming, and spiritualizing thought throughout the world, both within and without the Christian Science movement. Gradually, but surely, barren dogmas and false concepts which obstruct the flow of light from God to human consciousness, are fading away as the spiritual idea of church becomes clearer and dearer to the seekers for reality."

FREE SHERIFF IN LYNCHING CASE

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Sheriff J. L. Corbett of Henry county was acquitted Saturday by the Alabama supreme court of impeachment charges growing out of the lynching of a negro Feb. 1.

The court reached its verdict in 35 minutes after taking the case under advisement. There was no written opinion and no comment. Sheriff Corbett was charged with "negligence, grave fault, connivance and cowardice" in connection with the lynching of Wesley Johnson, a negro charged with assaulting a white woman. Johnson was taken from jail at Abbeville, Ala., by an armed mob.

Culver City Seeks Movie Cognomen

CULVER CITY, (AP)—Business bigwigs of Culver City—"where Hollywood movies are made"—compromised a name-changing row today, agreeing their community logically should be known as "Hollywood City."

Alarmed at the cry of plagiarism, hurled 10 miles from the foot of Calhoun pass, the Culver City Chamber of Commerce decided not to seek the title of "Hollywood, Cal.," in the postal guide.

Anyhow, the city attorney of Culver City held the opinion it might not be legal to strip Hollywood, northwest sector of Los Angeles, of its commercially-valuable name. "Hollywood City" was the brain child of an emergency meeting of chamber of commerce directors here. Such suggestions as "South Hollywood" and "New Hollywood" were voted down on the argument they smacked of real estate subdivisions and "babbling."

Proudly President Blaine Walker announced the Legion Post, Rotary, Lions and Knights of Pythias favored the change in name.

"Sure," said Walker, "I grabbed an elephant by the tail when I started in on the publicity enterprise, but if the people want to change I'm certainly going to let them have their way."

Petitions will be circulated among the electorate, the chamber head said, asking the city council to make "Hollywood City" official.

Name Delegates To Conventions

Ernest Kellogg post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, is getting ready for the convention season. The following delegates have been named for the department camp at Oroville June 27 to 30 inclusive: Lee Young, Dan J. Murphy, H. C. Woodward, C. P. Atwood, H. H. Williamson and H. C. McCleary. Alternates are W. B. Anderson, E. L. Fritner, J. A. LaLonde, R. D. Gillison, C. E. Davis and L. S. Sifton.

Delegates to the national encampment at Buffalo, N. Y., in September, will be McCleary and M. B. Stewart. Alternates will be Paul Cozad and Bob Planchen. The following committee has been named for the third district rally to be held at Balboa in September: H. J. Clayton, Hubbard, Glenn Hendrickson, Rowe and Cozad.

On June 11 the post will give a ham dinner in K. P. hall, open to the public. On June 18 it will celebrate its eighth birthday.

Reach Henning Estate Agreement

Approval of a compromise between Deputy District Attorney James L. Davis, executor of the estate of Louis Henning, wealthy Anaheim rancher, and Mrs. Agnes Wallner Byrnes, Henning's former housekeeper, was asked in superior court here today.

Davis said a claim of Mrs. Wallner for $4,139.96 for services over a period of two years had been rejected, but that a compromise of $1800 had been agreed upon.

Henning's will, which cut off his widow and six children with $5 each, was contested recently. The family was awarded a one-fifth share in a settlement out of court.

Great herds of musk oxen—now confined to the Arctic circle—once roamed the territory which is now the state of Indiana.

MAN SURVIVES BOLT FROM SKY

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. (AP)—Lightning hit Robert Hill, 57-year-old farm hand, near driveway one day last week and doctors marvel at the fact that he is still alive. His clothing was in shreds, his shoes ripped from his feet and the lenses in his eyeglasses were shattered by the bolt.

Hill was unconscious for some three hours before found by other workers in the field. He credited rubber soles on his shoes with having saved his life.

L. A. Judge Sued For Divorce

SAN JOSE, (AP)—Superior Court Judge Thurmond Clarke of Los Angeles has been sued for divorce by Mrs. Frances Corbett Clarke of Palo Alto.

Mrs. Clarke, a partial invalid, charged her husband slapped her, and refused to assist her to her feet when she fell. The complaint said he remarked "fall and break your head and see if I care." It also stated Clarke had refused to permit Mrs. Clarke's seven-year-old daughter to visit her although a physician said the child's company would assist her recovery.

Accuse Invalid Of Killing Mother

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—William G. McKibbin, 41, an invalid, faced arraignment in superior court today on a charge of fatally beating his mother, Mrs. Margaret McKibbin, 78, in a quarrel over his wheel chair.

Attorney Llewellyn Moses said his client would plead innocent, contending his mother died of injuries received in a fall. The district attorney charges McKibbin, his legs crippled by infantile paralysis, beat his mother with the butt of a gun and that she died in a hospital of the injuries last April 19.

Last Rites Held For Emmett Flynn

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—The film colony paid its final respects today to Emmett J. Flynn, who once directed Mary Pickford, Rudolph Valentino and others in motion pictures.

Funeral services were to be followed by burial in Calvary cemetery. Flynn, who died last Friday, was born in Denver in 1892, and was on the stage before he began film work in 1907. Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Ellen Flynn, and two brothers, Frank and Rev. Fr. Gerald Flynn.

TELLS INCREASE IN CANNING

Twenty-two million cases! That's the increase in canned fruit for the state of California from 1895, when the canning industry first flourished here, to 1936, B. R. Manker, manager of Smart and Final company, said here today.

In 1895, 1,684,163 cases of fruit were canned in California. This figure includes apples, apricots, pears, cherries, peaches, plums and berries. The total for 1936 was 23,967,298 cases. The 5,000,000 mark was passed in 1915 when 7,731,166 cases were packed. This figure was almost doubled by 1920 when 11,382,863 cases were prepared for world consumption. Prices on the cases have dropped steadily, Manker's report shows, but he expects them to rise again. The rise, when it comes, will be chiefly due to labor difficulties, he said. Price fluctuations have been marked since 1914, the report shows. The opening price on size two and one-half cans of pears was $2 then. It rose to $2.25 in 1917, to $3 in 1918, and reached a peak of $4.65 in 1920. Since then there has been a steady drop. The price last year was $1.70.

COONS

By MRS. ROBBIN COONS (Guest columnist for her husband) HOLLYWOOD.—"What is Hollywood really like?" is the question always asked and the question is connected with this place of sunshine and "glamor." I'll try to corral impressions:

I recall the time, shortly after my arrival, when a movie star asked us for dinner at 7:30. I insisted on arriving at 7:30.

Never again shall I do that—in Hollywood. The next guest came in at 8:15. The hostess wasn't dressed when we got there and undoubtedly she had rushed. I'm certain she wasn't pleased.

First Impressions

First impressions of movie stars, I find, are less easily erased than those of less publicized people. Jean Harlow may elope and spoil my sleep, and I may hear contradictory stories about her as a person, but I shall always remember her firm and aristocratic bearing, her charming and gracious hostess for Charlie Chaplin at that party he gave for H. G. Wells. I might add, cattily, that she was a marked contrast to many a Hollywood hostess who isn't around to greet a arrival or thanked on departure.

Norma Shearer has the pleasant characteristic, rarer than you'd think, of seeming more interested in what is being said to her than she is in herself. I'll think of Marlene Dietrich, who is given to making "entrances," as she was at a dinner in honor of Max Reinhardt. Her respect was so sincere that she made a great effort to slip in unnoticed when she arrived a few minutes late.

Bridge Saga

For entertaining personal reasons I shall remember an actor's wife with whom I found myself playing bridge. Stakes were mentioned and since I probably had less to lose than any of the four I said I didn't like to play for more than a 20th.

"Oh, is your bridge that bad?" asked the actor's wife.

"It'll do," I said, inwardly grim.

"We'll play for what you like."

"Well, she said, solving the situation in a way of no help to me, 'let's play for a fourth. If you lose too much, you just say so and we'll settle for less.'

My bridge isn't too good, but hers was worse.

She paid off at a 20th.

ELECTRIC RATE IS REDUCED

Electric rate cuts slashing light and power bills in this region as much as one-fifth, are in effect today, it was announced by the State Railroad commission.

The new schedule, for users of Southern California Edison company light and power, was the second cut for users here in less than a year, the commission reported.

A slight differential between rates offered rural users and those in metropolitan areas was pointed out by the commission.

Users of less than 60 kilowatt-hours per month will receive no benefits under the new rulings. In the Santa Ana, Orange and Fullerton areas a 3.2 per cent cut is made for users of 60 kilowatt-hours. This is increased to 10.2 per cent for users of 100 kilowatt-hours, and jumps to 23.9 per cent for users of 200 kilowatt-hours.

Rates for rural subscribers are reduced at a slightly lower rate.

A cut for domestic service, if it includes range service, or range and heater service, is also in effect.

Novelist Sued For $53,000

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Mrs. Robert Rose, prominent in Beverly Hills society, has sued Virginia Delmar, novelist, for $53,000 damages, as the result of an automobile mishap. The society woman claims she was struck by an automobile owned by the writer last March 13, and injured.

Eugene Delmar, the novelist's husband, and Deleon Erskine, chauffeur, who were in the automobile at the time, also were named defendants.

Billie Seward Seeks Divorce

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Rita Ann Wilkerson, who was known on the screen as Billie Seward, has sued William R. Wilkerson for divorce, charging he was "cold, selfish and indifferent."

She alleged that Wilkerson, publisher of a film trade paper and owner of the swank Trocadero and Vendome cafes, "entered upon a systematic course of humiliation and embarrassment."

They were married in September, 1935.

SENATE WILL PROBE RA MOVIES

Seek to Learn Cost of Resettlement's Two Film Productions

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The Resettlement Administration's venture in producing moving pictures came under the scrutiny today of the special senate committee on government reorganization.

Agents set out to discover just how much it has cost the agency to make such films as "The Plow That Broke the Plains"—a celluloid epic of the dust bowl which won praise from many movie critics.

They said they also would investigate Resettlement's most recent production, a still incomplete picture of floods and soil erosion which probably will be called "Of Man River."

The committee, headed by Senator Byrd (D., Va.), is expected to question Resettlement officials about their movie enterprise at hearings within the next two weeks.

Some Resettlement officials said they would welcome the inquiry, because they regard the films as "one of their most successful and least expensive experiments."

They described "The Plow That Broke the Plains" as a "notable artistic and popular achievement," produced on a shoestring by two or three cameramen. Not a penny, they noted, was spent for stars, stage sets or makeup.

Robinson's Car Popular Target

George C. Robinson, 1145 West Broadway, Anaheim, learned too much about the drunk driving situation Saturday.

After Robinson's car was struck and disabled at Jefferson and Orangewood avenues in Artesia and E. L. Tompkins of Los Angeles, Robinson had his car shoved to the side of the road.

Before he could finish inspecting the damage, there was another loud noise. Another had added insult to injury. Deputy sheriffs then arrested Jack Dykstra of Artesia on similar charges, after Robinson identified Dykstra as car-hitter No. 2.

The Robinson auto was badly damaged.

Marks and Marino Admitted to Bar

Two young Santa Ana attorneys were admitted to the bar Friday by the state supreme court in Los Angeles, with Justice Emerson J. Marks, formerly of Orange county, taking part in the ceremony.

Justice Marks' son, Adrian Marks of Santa Ana, was one of the group. Frank Marino, Jr., of Santa Ana, also was one of the group of 55 who took the attorney's oath.

Justice Marks, who was formerly judge of the superior court here; Former Chief Justice Lewis W. Myers of the supreme court, and Los Angeles Superior Judge Emmett H. Wilson each counseled the new attorneys upon their chosen career. Each had a son in the group.

Judgment Rises In Appealed Case

W. H. Booth discovered Friday that it was worth $192.26 to him to appeal a case to the Orange county superior court from the Anaheim justice court.

In a suit against L. Kimmel of Los Angeles over a minor traffic accident, Booth was awarded $40.36 by Justice Charles Kuchel of Anaheim. On his appeal, Superior Judge James L. Allen granted him $232.62.

MINSKY'S LOSE SHOW BATTLE

NEW YORK. (AP)—The Minsky brothers who described themselves as patrons of a "great, living American art," to-wit, the "srip tease," or "art" of publicly undressing in burlesque theaters, have lost another round with the law.

Undismayed by the biting exhortation of City License Commissioner Paul Moss last week in denying their application to reopen their emporium on Broadway, the Minskys announced they would "take action."

A month ago, after a storm of denunciation by church and civic leaders, Commissioner Moss refused to renew the Minskys' license to conduct a burlesque show at the same theater.

The Minskys then asked permission to operate a "coored revue and motion picture show" at the same theater. In a formal statement, Commissioner Moss said, in part:

"The name 'Minsky' has become associated in the public mind with indecent burlesque shows."

FEWER LOADING ZONES URGED

A new plan to bring order into the loading zone situation in Santa Ana will be suggested to the city council tonight by Police Commissioner Plummer Bruns.

Bruns will suggest that Santa Ana follow the practice of big cities and establish loading zones at the end of blocks, eliminating those that are scattered haphazardly in the middle of blocks.

This plan, Bruns said, would eliminate another 50 loading zones in addition to the number that would be abolished under terms of the recommendation he will make to the council tonight.

Bruns made a survey of the loading zone and driveway situation in the downtown business district, and will present a plan to the city council whereby parking space for 800 more cars a day can be provided than can be taken care of at the present time.

Plan State Flood Control Session

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Plans for state flood control, conservation and natural resources development projects will be worked out at a conference in Sacramento June 14 under Gov. Frank Merriam and members of the conservation committee of the State Supervisors' Association.

This announcement was made by Herbert C. Legg, committee chairman, who said the plans would be made under an act adopted by the last legislature and submitted to federal authorities.

Tentative plans call for an expenditure of $59,000,000 of which the federal government would contribute $35,000,000 and the state $24,000,000.

Beaumont Prepares Cherry Festival

BEAUMONT.—With ripe cherries already attracting visitors, Beaumont today was rushing preparations to entertain great throngs at the sixth annual cherry festival June 11, 12 and 13, as a civic event free to the public, under the auspices of Beaumont chamber of commerce.

Growers are making plans to place their best cherries on display to compete for cups and ribbons offered by the chamber of commerce.

A group of Boy Scouts will be on hand to guide motorists invited to inspect 4000 acres of ripe fruit, with 600 growers holding open house for the public.

Call For Bids On New Canal Project

EL CENTRO. (AP)—Notification was received here from Yuma, Ariz., that the United States bureau of reclamation has called for bids on construction of a check and wasteway for the All-American canal at Pilot Knob.

The last day for bids is June 28. The contract calls for work to start within 30 days after the bids are let and to be completed within 300 calendar days, with $100 penalty per day for delay.

REPORT GIVEN TO COUNCIL ON SEWER

City councilmen had a bit of studying ahead of them today. Mayor Fred C. Rowland has received the outfall sewer report of Consulting Engineer Harry Jenks, arranged by northern Orange county cities in an effort to iron out difficulties between Santa Ana and other members of the sewer district.

The report may be brought up at tonight's city council meeting. Although the outfall sewer board recently went on record as approving a 39-inch vitrified clay pipe line, with a pumping plant at the upper end of section one, the Jenks report passed on to Santa Ana makes no specific recommendation. Nine alternatives are included in the report, including one suggestion that Santa Ana might have its concrete pipe by making itself solely responsible for that section where concrete was used.

Santa Ana has clung doggedly to concrete pipe, while other cities have stuck by vitrified clay. Some cities already are making plans to withdraw and dispose of their own sewage if terms are not reached.

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, said today his inspectors are receiving many complaints from regions in which the pulp is being used as fertilizer on groves.

There is probably 10 times as much of the pulp this year as in ordinary years because of the number of culls resulting from frost, Dr. Sutherland said.

The pulp is sufficiently low grade as fertilizer that it has to be spread very heavily where used, and as a consequence does not get disced under before it begins to disintegrate.

Dr. Sutherland said today he is looking for a solution and asking cooperation of growers in getting the pulp underground within a few days after spreading.

Offensive odors, house flies, and small fruit flies or gnats arise from the pulp spreading, he said.

Charging that the Southern Counties Gas company left a ditch at The Arches, Newport Beach, improperly guarded, and that an auto in which he was a passenger dropped into it, John W. B. Bertelson Saturday started a $25,000 damage action here.

He asked the sum for injuries. Bertelson said he was a passenger in a car driven by James Hogan, and that the crash occurred June 6, 1936. H. C. Head is his attorney.

ORANGE PULP NEW HEALTH PROBLEM

Last winter's freeze has created a new health problem to plague the county health department, it was learned today.

The problem is that of orange pulp rotting and smelling in groves and breeding flies and other insects.

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, said today his inspectors are receiving many complaints from regions in which the pulp is being used as fertilizer on groves.

There is probably 10 times as much of the pulp this year as in ordinary years because of the number of culls resulting from frost, Dr. Sutherland said.

The pulp is sufficiently low grade as fertilizer that it has to be spread very heavily where used, and as a consequence does not get disced under before it begins to disintegrate.

Dr. Sutherland said today he is looking for a solution and asking cooperation of growers in getting the pulp underground within a few days after spreading.

Offensive odors, house flies, and small fruit flies or gnats arise from the pulp spreading, he said.

Gas Company Sued In Ditch Crash

Charging that the Southern Counties Gas company left a ditch at The Arches, Newport Beach, improperly guarded, and that an auto in which he was a passenger dropped into it, John W. B. Bertelson Saturday started a $25,000 damage action here.

He asked the sum for injuries. Bertelson said he was a passenger in a car driven by James Hogan, and that the crash occurred June 6, 1936. H. C. Head is his attorney.

TWO MEN, 60 HORSES DIE IN FLAMES

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Racing went on as usual today at the Ak-Sar-Ben track where two men and at least 60 race and show horses died in a fire.

Ak-Sar-Ben officials estimated the losses at between $220,000 and $230,000.

The two men who died when flames swept out of the main barns yesterday, were Ed Kelly, about 25, a race horse "rubber," and W. T. Lochlear, 60, trainer, of San Saba, Texas.

Firemen found their bodies from the ruins of the barn and expressed belief they died trying to lead race horses to safety.

In a hospital, burned seriously, were J. E. Duffy of Bangor, Me.,

Clayde Bailey, of Big Springs, Tex., both employed by racing interests, stole the horses from the barn, their clothes in flames. Firemen said they could not determine immediately the origin of the fire.

Witnesses said the barn, filled with hay and equipment, burned rapidly and was half destroyed before firemen could make the long run from the street.

J. Isaacson, Ak-Sar-Ben secretary, said the barn was valued at $135,000. Horsemen estimated the loss of horses at $50,000 and loss of equipment at between $35,000 and $45,000.

U.S. HOARD OF GOLD IS 12 BILLIONS

Reserve Is Largest In World, Says Report By Treasury

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The treasury's gold hoard, largest in the world, now is more than $12,000,000,000.

The government's gold stocks, the treasury said, had reached $12,039,165,350 on June 5.

Since the first of the year, the treasury has been "sterilizing" incoming gold to prevent it from flowing into excess bank reserves and thus laying the basis for a credit inflation.

Under the sterilization program, funds are borrowed from the money market to pay for gold acquisitions, thus keeping the credit supply stable. A total of $807,832,082 of gold has been sterilized.

The farm value of peanuts in the United States in 1936 is estimated at $44,150,000.

And Your Soda Glass Will Be Chemically Pure

Efforts of county health authorities to keep check on the cleanliness of soda fountain glasses and restaurant dishes will be doubled during the warm summer months, Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, announced today.

E. E. Frisby, sanitary inspector, disclosed that tests of actual bacteria counts on glasses, carried on through the past year, gave proof that nearly all food handling places in the county maintained high standards of cleanliness and brought prompt correction from a few that did not.

Exacting Tests
Formerly the four inspectors in the county could do nothing but insist that restaurant and drug store men wash their glasses in an approved manner.

Now an inspector runs a sterile cotton swab over the rim of the glass and sends the swab to the health department laboratory. There a culture in agar is incubated for 24 hours to show up the number of bacteria.

Gets Cooperation
Confronted with scientific proof of the condition of their serving ware, food handlers in every case have cooperated to improve washing facilities, Frisby said.

McAdoo Wants Job For Stephens

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Sen. William Gibbs McAdoo told reporters, after a White House conference, he had recommended appointment of Federal District Judge Albert Lee Stephens of Los Angeles to one of the two newly-created judgeships on the ninth circuit court of appeals.

It was the senator's first announcement that he favored elevation of Stephens to the appellate bench.

Ban Intimidation In Pay Envelopes

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Intimidation of employe-voters through written matter placed in pay envelopes or by other means is prohibited under a bill signed by Gov. Lehman last week.

PAYROLL FACTS ARE DEMANDED

SACRAMENTO.—The California unemployment reserves commission today called on employers subject to the unemployment reserves act for their 1936 payroll records, the first quarter of 1937, and each quarter thereafter.

The commission adopted Rule 90.12, which states that subject employers during that year shall "furnish to the commission on form DE-342 the payroll records and other information indicated thereon concerning employment records during the calendar year 1936 for each calendar quarter thereof."

Employers have until July 15 to furnish the information. The rule is published in the magazine, Employment News, for June.

"This information is necessary," said Carl L. Hyde, executive director, "to permit the commission to pay accurate benefits after Jan. 1, 1938."

The state legislature adopted a new benefit structure which compels the commission to pay benefits to the subject unemployed on a basis of quarterly earnings for the past eight quarters, which means the past two years.

"Unless the commission has the data requested, it will be unable to carry out the mandate of the legislature."

The commission urged all employers subject to the act, more than 20,000, to furnish the information as soon as possible. In the future, payroll data will be supplied quarterly, and eliminate the necessity of severance reports.

Everett Stovall Wins U. C. Medal

Everett L. Stovall, well known young pianist and son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stovall of 608 Spurgeon street, has been awarded a silver medal for proficiency in foreign languages at the University of California, from which he was graduated this month.

Stovall was awarded the medal for excellence in French, in competition with hundreds of students in the foreign language department. He will arrive in Santa Ana to visit his parents in three weeks, his father said today.

MORE BY PEGLER

as one of questionable legality. If you got your ticket through the mail it certainly wasn't kosher with the postal laws. But, although Mr. Big has sounded off with great official piety about the immorality of persons who take advantage of all the breaks under the income tax laws, there aren't any prigs in the internal revenue department. The federal and state government aren't hampered by any fastidious moral concepts in such matters.

Why, do you realize, Mr. Ryan, that although Mr. Roosevelt sets great store by morality the United States government and New York state are silent partners in every house of prostitution, every burglary and swindle and gambling house and every fence for the disposal of stolen goods in their respective jurisdiction? Fact, Mr. Ryan, if a man—not you—but some hypothetical vicious character sets up a chain-store system of brothels the government and the state are inclined to and, on precedent, would be likely to demand their cut of the profits.

CLEAN REVENUE
We think any man who would make a dollar this way is about as low as they make them, but the income tax laws regard such money as clean revenue, and would take the wage of infamy without the slightest twinge. If a man runs a fence and the government can prove that he made a profit, he can be prosecuted for defrauding the treasury if he doesn't make out a correct return and pay off.

This is not mere theory, Mr. Ryan. It was a fact, in the case of Al Capone. Although Al made most of his money in bootlegging, which was illegal, he got 11 years on the rock off San Francisco for failure to pay Uncle Sam his cut. He wasn't sent away for bootlegging, but for double-crossing his partner in crime. They used to say out around Chicago that Capone also ran a line of lady-parlors around Cicero, and if so, the profit on this business was fairly taxable, too, under the government code of morality. I don't quite recall whether they went into that phase of his myriad interests in the trial.

AL'S PARTNER
They wouldn't have to, because they had him cold on the bootleg thing, but, legally, the government was his partner, muscling in on the old muscle man, in every one of his profitable activities. What do you think of that for morality, Mr. Ryan?

You know something, Mr. Ryan? Far be it from me to suggest a loophole for a tax-dodger, but that which I am about to mention is not a loophole. It's a door. It says in the paper that you are an Irishman, naturalized American. At $22 a week with a wife and four kids after 12 years in this country you are not doing any too well in the land of promise, are you? Well, if you just go back to Ireland, and stay there, the whole $150,000 is yours. That might be immoral, but that is for you to decide.

Sorry to wake up up, Mr. Ryan. Sincerely yours,
(Signed) Westbrook Pegler.

Drum Corps Heads For Championship

The Santa Ana American Legion Drum and Bugle corps, which is co-sponsor of an amateur contest, today was aiming at winning state and national championships. The contest will cover tonight, tomorrow and Wednesday night. The Forty and Eight is working with the drum corps as sponsor.

The drum corps, led by E. L. Couron, is one of the leading organizations of its kind in the nation. It was adopted by the famous Rainbow Division society in 1932 as the official Rainbow society corps. It has played in this capacity at the Shrine civic auditorium, the Philharmonic auditorium, and numerous other huge gatherings. Its activities at Legion convention have brought much favorable publicity to the city of Santa Ana. In contests both state and national it has consistently ranked among the top corps. "This year the boys feel that their chances to win the state and national championship are more than good," said Couron. "They want the moral support of the Santa Ana people, and with such they will try to bring back new laurels from the state and national convention this year."

Dam on San Juan Creek to Cost $2,171,000

REPORT GIVES DETAILS OF PROJECT

County's Share Will Boost Total Cost
By $61,000

By KENNETH ADAMS

Water for the lands of Orange county. That's the most important problem facing agriculture of this county. Enough water to irrigate the rich orchard and field crops. But not too much—not so much that devastating floods will sweep over cities and farms to bring disaster in their wake.

Solution of the flood problem appears to be imminent. Through its army engineers, the government will expend $2,171,000 to construct eight dams for Orange county—if Orange county pays its share of the cost by voting a $2,500,000 water bond issue.

Conservation
Conservation features also are embodied in the $15,248,000 water program, as outlined in a report made to the board of supervisors by Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson, so that big quantities of water can be sunk into the underground basin for future use of agriculture.

The biggest of the eight projects is dam and reservoir at the Prado

Marriage Here Becomes Basis Of Bigamy Charge

A marriage in Santa Ana last summer had become the basis today of a bigamy complaint filed in Los Angeles against Russell D. James, an interurban conductor.

The action was based on charges of Mrs. Helen Marie James that her husband gave her a railroad pass to visit her mother in Salem, Ore., last summer and refused to send money for her return.

She came back anyway, the complaint states, and found that James had married Miss Bertie Pegram, 40, in Santa Ana on July 21, 1936.

site on the Santa Ana river. Next largest is Project No. 4 on the list, as far as cost is concerned. This project is the San Juan creek project, on which the government will spend $2,171,000 and the county $61,000.

The proposed San Juan retarding basin, located about four miles upstream from the town of San Juan Capistrano, is intended for flood control and water conservation. This retarding basin, operated in connection with a retarding basin on Trabuco creek, will protect the agricultural area downstream from the damites and provide means of conserving the run-off from a drainage area of 107 square miles on San Juan creek and 32 square miles of the upper basin of Trabuco creek. Only crest flows of great flows will waste to the ocean, the report says.

The retarding basin will be formed by the construction of an earth-fill dam, 116 feet in height, with impervious core and with a crest width of 15 feet at elevation 296. The crest length at this elevation will be 2500 feet.

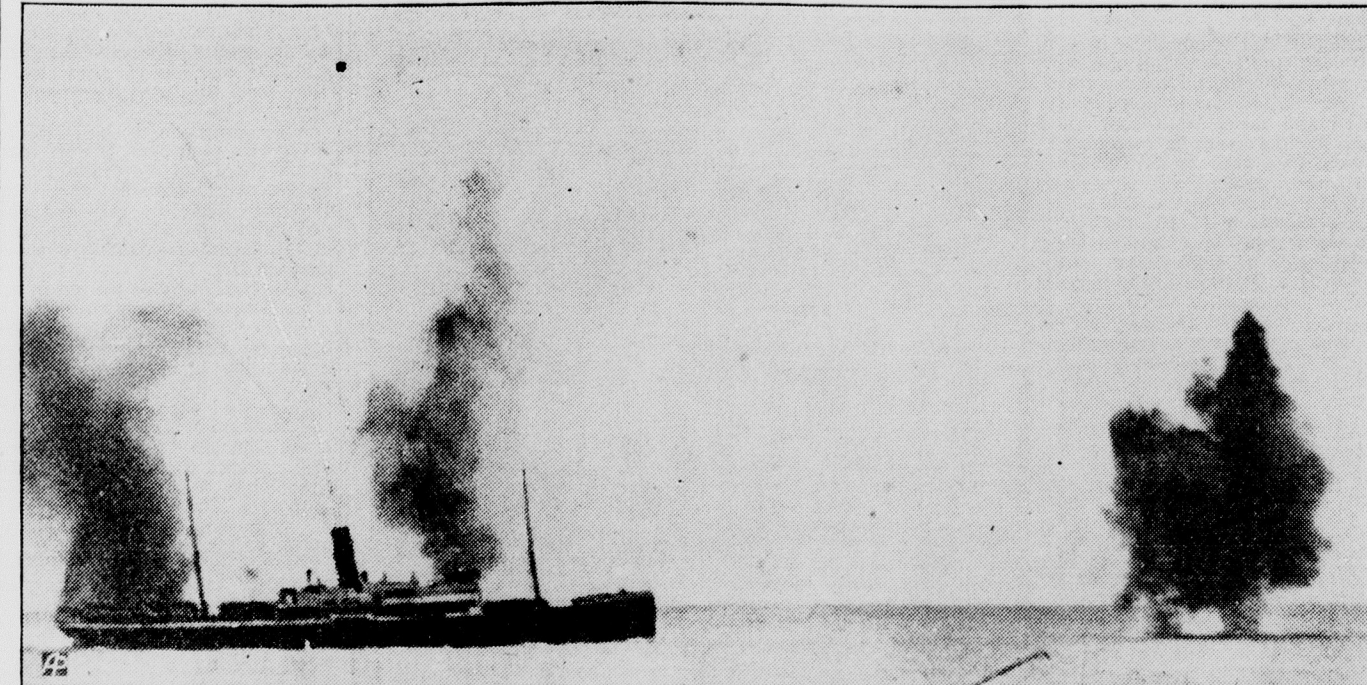

Rock Paving
The adopted slopes are three horizontal to one vertical, on the upstream and downstream faces. The upstream face is protected by hand-placed rock paving. On the downstream face a 20-foot berm placed at elevation 246 is provided for protection against rain-fall erosion.

By using the hydrograph taken from the Orange County Flood Control district's records for the maximum storm, the capacity of the retarding basin, at the spillway crest, has been fixed at 25,500 acre feet. No conservation storage is provided in the retarding basin.

The spillway crest is placed at elevation 276 and is designed to have a maximum capacity discharge capacity, under a head of 15 feet, of 120,000 cubic feet per second.

The control works, consisting of tower, trash racks, control gates and outlet conduits, are located at the base of the right abutment at elevation 180. Four seven by 12 foot gates and one three by six foot open outlet are provided for the operation.

The released flows are carried by a conduit 570 feet long made up of four seven-by-12 foot rectangular openings.

With these gates and the open outlet, the maximum flood flow that may occur will be regulated to 10,000 cubic feet per second with water surface at spillway crest, elevation 276.

The hydrology of this stream is subject to further studies, and some revision may be made in the present design to provide for conservation storage, the report says.

Section Head And Sister Hostesses

Concluding their study of fine poetry with a program of their own compositions, members of Ebell modern poetry section brought their year to a delightful climax on Saturday in the luncheon given by the leader, Mrs. Claudia Worswick, and her sister, Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch, at the clubhouse.

Larkspur and delphinium decorated the tables in the section room where twenty members gathered for the luncheon hour, and gladioli and roses brightened the program following.

Flowers were sent by Mrs. Alan Revill, who was unable to be present, and by Miss Martha Ritchey, retiring secretary of the section.

During a short business session, an expression of appreciation was given to Mrs. Worswick, who is retiring as leader after three years, and she introduced the new officers who will assume leadership in the fall. These are Mrs. Horace Scott, leader; Miss Vanche Plumb, assistant leader; Mrs. Lillian Whitling, secretary; Mrs. Mabel Northcross, who will again serve as program chairman.

Mrs. Northcross had asked two of the members, Mrs. Edith Thatcher and Mrs. Edith Cloyes, to contribute special numbers to the program, the former reading selections from Swinerton's "Autobiography," and Mrs. Cloyes the prize poems from "First the Blade."

Members reading original poems during the afternoon were the Mesdames Worswick, John Tammann, T. E. Stevenson, E. M. Nealey, Harwood Sharp, Pritchett, Cloyes, Thatcher, Hatch, Marshall, Northcross, and the Mesdames Beulah May, Mabel Whitling, and Lucy Carter. Mrs. Scott read a poem by Mrs. Revill, and one by Miss Julia Budlong, also unable to be present, was included on the program.

Other members present were Mrs. Ralph Smedley, Miss Vanche Plumb, and Miss Martha Ritchey. Plans were made for two events during the vacation months one at Mrs. Tammann's summer home in Laguna Beach, and the other, in September, at Miss May's home.

BUFFET SUPPER DRAWS CROWD

One hundred and twenty-five gathered at the Santa Ana Country club Sunday afternoon and evening for another of the "family day" parties, the former reading selections from Swinerton's "Autobiography," and Mrs. Cloyes the prize poems from "First the Blade."

Bridge games around the fire, dancing in the other end of the long room, ping pong in an adjoining room, singing around the piano—all contributed to the fun of the day and kept some of the crowd at the clubhouse until after the midnight hour.

Presiding as hosts for the supper, one of the weekly series, were Mr. and Mrs. Dean Collier, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Swank, and Mr. and Mrs. John Swank. Their table, from which the meal was served buffet style, was lovely with sprays of flowering shrub.

Another event of this week will be the evening card party on Friday when Mr. and Mrs. Mark Vandermere will be hosts. Revelations are to be made with them, or with the country club. Playing will start at 8 o'clock, with prizes and refreshments at the conclusion.

DEPARTMENT MEETS TUESDAY

Miss Frances L. Liles will give a demonstration on "Spring Cushion Renovation" at the regular meeting of the home department of the Tustin Farm Center, which will be held at 10 a. m. June 8, in the county fair bureau offices, North Main street, Santa Ana.

Mrs. George Veeh, vice chairman, will conduct the business session, and each woman attending is asked to provide her luncheon for the noon hour. Anybody having a chair cushion needing repair is asked to bring it.

FLOWERS ON YOUR HANDBAG

Multi-colored leather flowers are fastened to each end of a white capeskin bag designed by David Lewis. Other accessories for the tailored white silk dress include a white straw Breton sailor trimmed with navy blue ribbon, a navy chiffon scarf and white doekin gloves.

When We Get in a Rut It Takes Strength and Will Power to Create New Vision

There is a word called "myopic" that it would be well for every person to keep in mind, in order that he or she should not become it. "Myopic" means seeing along just one line of vision, having no breadth, or scope, of vision. And aren't lots of people that way? Aren't there dozens of righteous, honorable, well-intentioned people you know who nevertheless are narrow? Whose code of conduct allows no leeway for anyone else's ideas or opinions? And by the same token, aren't we all prone to get set in an idea, or situation, and not be able to see any new angle or slant into it? If we could only force ourselves to take an outside point of view, and survey our problems wisely and dispassionately I feel sure we'd have more success in solving them—to say nothing of finding that proper niche in life that was discussed several months ago.

Dear Miss Stoddard: Last August I sought your advice about my "problem," that is, I have not advanced in my present position where I have been employed for the past three and one-half years. It might be well to supplement the fact at this time that my age is 21.

You wrote me a very fine answer, Miss Stoddard, and I still treasure it. But may I come to you for advice again? You suggested that perhaps I was not fitted for the position in which I am now employed, and said, "there is a niche in life for each of us if we can find it."

Many times during the past seven or eight months this phrase has re-occurred to me, and I have wondered: How does one find one's niche?

Long before I ever wrote you, I tried to better my position. I answered advertisements, made applications with more desirable firms, and tried to keep in touch with influential friends. Last year I attended night school to brush up my shorthand. Even though my employer knows this, I have not once used it.

The friend who recommended me for my position told me that the girl hired previously had confused the records hopelessly, and it is generally understood that my work has always been done with particular efficiency. Please do not think I mean to flatter myself, or to brag, or to explore this condition, for it has led me to believe that is the reason my em-

Fetes Mother At Birthday Luncheon

Mrs. A. N. Zerman of 505 South Sycamore street honored her mother, Mrs. Ella S. Johnson, Saturday with a delightful party celebrating the latter's 81st birthday.

Lovely pink gladioli from the Zerman garden were arranged in bouquets through the rooms, and Mrs. Alvin Novotny and Mrs. E. A. B. Smith brought beautiful scarab and sweet peas which were used to center the small tables.

After luncheon, a big birthday cake, with pink Cecil Bruner roses and tapers as decoration, was served with dessert. Mrs. Roy Johnson made the cake as a special gift to the honored guest, and other charming gifts were showered on her.

Five hundred was played in the afternoon, the games resulting in awarding of first prize to Mrs. Margaret Church, second to Mrs. Anna James, and low to Mrs. Smith.

Present at the pretty party were the Mesdames E. F. Perkins, Roy Ivins, Charles Arnold, J. B. Haas, Edith Snow, Alvin Novotny, Bertha Berry, H. MacVicker Smith, Margaret Church, Anna James, E. A. B. Smith, and the honored guest and hostess.

Mrs. Johnson's great-granddaughter, Archeline Winter, assisted in hostess duties.

CHAPEL CHOSEN BY ORANGE GIRL FOR WEDDING

The patio of the Santa Ana wedding chapel was the scene Saturday night of the wedding of Miss Sabra Bachelor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Bachelor of Orange, and Herbert Carroll of San Diego, son of Thomas Carroll of Valley Park.

The bride wore a white crepe suit with fur lapels and a white turban, and her flowers were an arm bouquet of white rosebuds. Miss Patricia Sherley of Portland, Ore., was maid of honor, her dress a white crepe with royal blue jacket.

William G. Schlich of San Diego was best man. The ceremony was performed by candlelight by the Rev. Arthur T. Hobson, pastor of the Grace Methodist church, where the bride has been a member of the young people's choir for several years.

A reception for relatives was held at the home of the bride's parents, and the couple left for a trip, the new Mrs. Carroll wearing a beige tailored suit with luggage accessories. They will live in San Diego. The bride is a graduate of Orange High school and attended Santa Ana Junior college, where she was a member of the glee club and women's chorus. The bridegroom was educated in Trenton, N. J.

go about filling that niche in life. There must be some one thing in the busy world that interests you more than anything else. "Hitch your wagon to a star." Spend your spare moments concentrating on that line of work or profession.

Don't sit back and wonder why others are advanced and you are not. Just say to yourself I am as clever as they are and I have experience. In this way you will gain confidence in yourself and if you learn that you will never be any more than an office fixture in your present employment, continue to do your work as nearly perfect as possible and continually keep your eyes and ears open for a position where you will have a chance of advancement.

Mrs. Fred Merker and Mrs. L. A. Dickey Entertain

Purple and yellow tones of the pansies down the center of the table were reflected in the hand-painted name cards at the places, and later in the score pads at the bridge tables, for the lovely early summer luncheon and bridge party at which Mrs. Leon A. Dickey of North French street and Mrs. Fred G. Merker of North Ross entertained Saturday afternoon at the Santa Ana Country club.

The pansies, combined with maiden hair fern, were arranged in long, low baskets in a colorful line down the center of the one long table which was set in the solarium for the party.

The attractive little place markers, using the same flower theme, were the artistic work of Mrs. Hubert Nall, who had also painted the score pad covers. In appreciation of this courtesy, the two hostesses presented Mrs. Nall, who was one of their guests, with a little gift at the close of the afternoon's play.

Flowers placed in the reception hall by Mrs. Merker and Mrs. Dickey received their guests in pastel shades and in tall basket arrangements.

Summer Colors
Mrs. Merker wore a silk knit suit in a turquoise blue tone, with a contrasting note in her hat, shoes, and gloves, which were of a coral hue. Mrs. Dickey's dress was white, and her hat and accessories of a summer blue. They were assisted in their hostess duties by Mrs. Merker's sister, Mrs. Carl Edgar.

Bridge play followed the luncheon hour, the tables being set up for cards in the clubrooms which also had lovely flower arrangements. One large bouquet of white shrub on the piano offered pretty contrast to the other blooms in their richer summer colors, and an open fire in the grate added its brightness to that of the blossoms.

Three prizes of silver were presented at the close of the games. Mrs. Harold Nelson, who was high received a coffee server; Mrs. Joseph Dangler's prize, as second high winner, was a silver platter; and Mrs. Charles Nussbaumer's, as third high, covered serving dish.

The guest list included: Mrs. Merker, Mrs. Dickey, Mrs. Edgar, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Dangler, Mrs. Nussbaumer, Mrs. Bressler, Mrs. Nall, Mrs. Bannister, Mrs. Cannon, Mrs. Joseph Dangler, Mrs. Penn, E. J. Bride Must Look Glowing

By JACQUELINE HUNT

On ordinary days you can be the kind of girl your mood dictates, you can be snappy dressed and sophisticated or dashing, boyish and casual. But on your wedding day you must be as sweetly and softly feminine as possible.

The day before, have your manicure and hand and arm massage. If your nails have a naturally good color, use colorless polish. If your fingertips are not inspiring to look at, choose a soft rose, natural or pale suntan shade that will look soft and natural with your wedding gown.

Use a liquid powder or a delicately tinted cream make-up base. Blend your rouge into this foundation. Apply a minimum of color—you may be nervous and pale during the ceremony and too much color in contrast with the whiteness of your skin will be conspicuous. Afterward when friends are crowding around to kiss the bride, you will be so happy and flushed, you will not need much make-up.

Apply powder that matches your natural complexion to face, dusting away any excess so your skin has that cool, youthful softness about it without a powdered look. Use cheek rouge on your lips or use a lipstick that harmonizes with it and color them only very faintly.

Finally, conceal a tiny sweat-down puff with a little powder in the corner of your eye. You will not have a chance for retouching your face during the ceremony, but you can turn your head aside long enough to sneak a speck of powder on your nose if you suspect that it is shiny.

Primerize your eyes. Your eyebrows should be neat and darkened slightly if necessary. Use a soft gray-blue or brownish shadow sparingly over your lids to give them a luminous, youthful look, and make your eyes seem more deep and soulful. You must use mascara, you had better see that it is waterproof—just in case you have to wipe away a tear or two.

GATHERS CLUB MEMBERS FOR LUNCHEON

Mrs. Jesse Elliott was hostess to her card club yesterday afternoon at 516 West Santa Clara street, seating the guests at a table with fragrant sweet peas and pansies and pink candles.

Contract followed luncheon, and prizes for high and second high scores went to Mrs. Edward Brannon and Mrs. Linn Shrewsbury.

Guests were Mrs. Edward Brannon of Riverside, Mrs. Linn Shrewsbury, Mrs. John Daneri and Mrs. Oscar Guilbert, all of San Juan Capistrano; and Mrs. Arthur Koepsel, Mrs. Elwood Bear, Mrs. Mabel Blee, and the hostess, of Santa Ana.

AGAINST THAT HOUR
Here in the dusking twilight
I cup
Hands brimming with the sunset.
I lift them up.
Knowing that they hold
More than gems or gold.
Though my finger-tips feel naught,
I have caught
Loveliness that once was Helen,
Triumph of the painter's brush,
Curve of slender willow bough,
And evening's hush.

Quietly my arms I lower,
Lest I spill
One drop of these rich spoils.
I stand still.
Exultant.
As beauty empties in my heart,
Held fast against that thirsty hour
When Youth's awareness shall depart.

"LAND OF GOLD"

MARJORIE
Suggesting red flannel under the shabby frock,
Wearing cotton stockings and high shoes
While other girls wore silk and pumps
Marjorie sat among her smarter sisters
With a dreamy abstraction that set her apart.
It was with frank curiosity
That I drove her home.
The day she sprang from my ankle,
Her dwelling was a tent
Pitched on the canyon-side;
Her mother, a consumptive, fading gently
Into the shadows;
Her father,
Belonging to the earlier days of the pioneers,
Restless and discontent,
Seeking frontiers that have vanished
Without embarrassment Marjorie spoke,
"I'm glad it was you brought me home.
I've always wanted you to see my view.
That's the blue of the ocean over there;
See how the hill is purpled with lupine
And gilded with poppies.
Isn't it good to be alive?"

"THE SCANDAL OF CLOCHERIE," By Gabriel Chevallier (Courtesy Lockwood's Lending Library)

By MOLLY HARVEY

Written with a decidedly Rabelaisian flavor, "The Scandal of Clocherie," recently translated from the French, is an amusing and very telling satire. When Barthelmy Piechut, mayor of one of the wealthiest vineyard centers, decided, in the interests of progress, to erect a public convenience in the center of the town, he little dreamed of the far-reaching effects of his seemingly innocent plans. He had no idea that public opinion would divide the townspeople into two distinct camps, that sex and radicalism would rear their ugly heads, that the sanctity of the church would be violated, the patron saint destroyed, that the government of France would be shaken to its very roots, and a world disarmament conference disbanded at its most critical moment.

With sly good humor, and his tongue in his cheek, Gabriel Chevallier tells of those small events which show that the destiny of a nation hangs by a mere thread. Of course we must first consider the good people of Clocherie, which though typical of any small French community, had its share of eccentricities to keep the ball of trouble rolling. These personages are delightfully described through the medium of their foibles and physical delineations. Chief agitator was Justine Putet, "a solitary and embittered old maid, who brought a spiteful and alarming vigilance to bear on the acts of her contemporaries." She tried to gain as an ally the Cure Ponosse, "a gentle priest, who was filled with embarrassment by the confessions of the women of Clocherie," but in the end, in a burst of glorious insanity she attacked him in the middle of mass with prayer books and footstools.

There was also Arthur Torbayon whose jealousy of his wife led him into a hand-to-hand encounter with the captain of the militia. The captain's men, becoming panicky

Have Table Manners No One Can Criticize

Don't laugh at Dot—the girl who stuffs iced cake into her mouth with her fingers.
She's to be pitied. For, until she learns better table manners, the people she longs to know will just ignore her.

What hostess wants to take a chance on a girl who doesn't know layer cake should be eaten with a fork—even at simple buffet parties? If you invited her to dinner she'd probably drink her soup from the tip instead of from the side of her spoon. She'd put the salt for her celery on the table-cloth instead of on her plate.

As for tricky foods? Dot would never know that you eat artichokes by pulling off a leaf at a time. And canapes would bewilder her!

It's so easy to be correct once you know. Our 32-page booklet gives tips on formal and informal dinners, good form for restaurants and clubs. All the table manners you need to know.

Send 10c for your copy of Good Table Manners to The Journal, Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and name of booklet.

One 'Good Turn' Deserves Another

Leroy David, 37, 117 North Olive street, made a mistake Saturday night. If he hadn't been picked up by police on drunk charges, everything would have been all right. But as Officer Ralph Pantuso checked police records, he found that David was wanted on a charge of defrauding an innkeeper or a complaint by H. L. McKague of the Mulholland apartments. He was held on both charges.

Mrs. MacMurray is the former Miss Marguerite Haskell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Haskell, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. MacMurray. Both attended high school here, and Mr. MacMurray was graduated from junior college. He is associated with the Newport Publishing Co. and Mrs. MacMurray with Western Union here.

GAINES

Ain't science wonderful? A few weeks ago this department discovered a brand new industry out in the county, where a sign advertised "wind-mill eggs."

Now comes another startling advance. This, what probably will turn out to be a boon to mankind, comes to us through Corb Sarchet's Brea Progress.

"Art Reidenbach getting new front" says a headline in Corb's paper.

Doesn't that suggest all sorts of possibilities? Bay windows by the dozen probably will be falling by the wayside before long!

Careful perusal of the story which followed finally disclosed that it was Art's store that was getting a new front. "Stoo bad. That'd have made a good story!"

Fun in Balboa! The town was crowded yesterday, but the best sight of all was the colored gentleman in a chauffeur's uniform, solemnly taking the back seat on a bicycle built for two and doing the leg-work while the boss' youngster did the steering.

He didn't seem to mind the first trip up and down the main stem. But a little later he showed up with little daughter doing the steering. This time his face had that set expression one sees when a man's taking a severe beating.

But when he showed up with another little girl! My, oh my, he seemed upset. I guess it's a good thing he ran out of children!

It seems like this department has spent half its time apologizing lately, but here we go again!

Few days ago I printed some stuff about someone wanting to spend his vacation eating turkey three times a day. And I blamed it all on former Mayor Henry Fate from San Clemente. I'll admit in my own defense, that later I blamed it on Councilman Riley from Orange, but that doesn't make my case look any better.

Because Henry got himself into trouble eating turkey the other night, and that article gave him no end of pain. In fact, he was upset for several hours after reading it.

It seems that he was traveling about the country when dinner time arrived. He searched around until he found a likely looking eating place, went in, and ordered—of all things—a turkey sandwich.

An hour or so later, numerous physicians pumped the turkey back up again. And since then, even the word "turkey" has made Henry horribly ill.

He came into the office Saturday and refrained from striking or throwing things at this department only through great restraint. So I must remember never to mention turkey when speaking of Henry Fate after this!

Speaking of food, and if you like rabbit dinners, there's a place I know about where one can get about the best rabbit dinner in the world for 35 cents. Of course, I mustn't mention any names or it'd be advertising, but if anyone wants to ask—!

And now, thank goodness, some benefactor has popped into the office while I wasn't looking, and left me a letter. True, it's a sort of jesting affair, but who cares, as long as it fills space?

What follows is from the pen of some good samaritan, and I don't know who he is!

As I sit here with nothing to do, (?) I think that I shall put myself in your position when you are trying to hack out a column with the dead line staring you in the face.

Well, there isn't any dead line staring me in the face so I guess the dead silence of this room will have to serve as atmosphere.

I imagine the logical place to start a column would be somewhere along the coast. So let's begin with Dana Point and San Clemente. I think the fishing is pretty good at San Clemente and these stairs at Dana Point still tire me out. (Why doesn't the chamber of commerce install an escalator?)

Having described to you the beauties of the Eastern coast cities, let's move over to Laguna Beach. Here by the roaring breakers lives my old friend Ted Cook.

Yes, another columnist. (Go WE columnists sure are thick.) Does he still "deflea" his dogs with a cigaret?

Hello, here we are at Balboa. But first we'll take a gander at "Shorty" Gunther and his famous St. Bernard dog. I suppose that it is a well known fact that Pluto, who has saved six people from drowning, is a commissioned life-guard on the Newport Beach police force. A good thing. At least he won't be looking at good looking babes instead of attending to his duty.

Fullerton, Anaheim and Orange are covered goodly, so maybe we ought to stop at Tustin. Well, on second thought maybe we had just better stop. 'Tis rumored that there is a paddy wagon in the district, so pardon me while I go hide with the other fugitive columnists. Aren't we all?

The late Marcus Trent has left a million dollars to his nephew, Rodney Burton, provided he is unmarried when he reaches twenty-five. Otherwise, it goes to a society headed by J. Montrose Pettigrew, Rodney, leading an isolated life in the mountains near Gunnison, Colorado, is not to be informed of the terms of the will. Pettigrew offers Sari Saunders $10,000 to go to Gunnison and marry Rodney into marriage before his twenty-fifth birthday, on July 24th, a month away. Trent's lawyer dispatches Judy Collins to Gunnison to thwart this scheme. Sari becomes engaged to Rodney, and the wedding is set for the day before his birthday. Judy resorts to desperate measures, but in vain. Meanwhile, Sari herself dreads the wedding, for she has fallen in love with Rodney's friend, Jim Matthews. On the wedding day, Judy offers to drive Sari to the church. She takes another road, and draws a pistol on Sari.

CHAPTER XXX
SARI stared, wide-eyed, at the pistol and squirmed away from it.

"Have you completely lost your senses!" she gasped.

"Your guess is as good as mine," said Judy, competently steering the little car with one hand. "But don't get any foolish ideas about resisting because the pistol's loaded."

It wasn't loaded, of course, but Sari had no way of ascertaining that. She crowded over against the door.

"What are you going to do?" she asked faintly.

"This," Judy told her composedly, "is what is known, in underworld argot, as a snatch. You're being kidnapped and you might as well like it."

She little knew that an exultant sense of relief was flooding through Sari. Fate had intervened to halt the wedding! Deep down inside, Sari was grateful beyond measure that things had taken this unexpected turn. However, she wasn't going to give Judy the satisfaction of knowing she was a willing kidnaper victim.

"It's all right, I suppose," she said coolly. "It affects some people's minds."

"Never mind," said Judy. "Just don't make any false moves, or you'll regret it."

"Okay—if you're determined to be tough about it."

SARI relaxed, leaning back against the cushion. Judy watching her out of the corner of her eye, thought Sari was trying to trick her into relaxing her guard.

"You can't fool me!" she said sternly. "I'm going to keep hold of this pistol until we get to where we're going."

"Sari forced back a smile. "Where are we going?"

"You'll find out in good time. Where you'll be well hidden, you may be sure of that."

"You can't get away with it, of course," Sari told her. "Rodney will turn these mountains upside down to rescue me."

"Maybe so, but I'll bet he does not find you until after tomorrow night—after that, it doesn't matter."

Sari digested that bit of information. Tomorrow was the 24th. Her $10,000 was going up in smoke. After a time, she asked, "What is it all about? I know you're doing this to keep me from marrying Rod before tomorrow, but what's it all about, anyway?"

"Pettigrew sent you to marry him, didn't he?"

"I'm not talking out of turn."

She sat down suddenly on the side of the road—a complete nervous wreck from the strain of a lawless life. Tears of exasperation streamed from her eyes. The pistol dropped, unnoticed, at her side.

Sari's lips quirked into an amused smile. She considered Judy's former aspect for a time without saying anything.

Then, she remarked, with some asperity, "You should be ashamed of letting your kidnapping fizzle out so!"

"What can I do?" wailed Judy. Sari walked to the back of the coupe and jerked the rumble seat open with a bang.

"If there's anything I detest," she announced calmly, "it's letting a good idea fall flat."

She began throwing tools out on the ground.

Judy wiped her eyes. "What are you going to do?"

"You've got the pistol," Sari reminded her. "Why don't you make me change the tire? I know how."

"That's right," Judy lifted the pistol and gazed at it in some chagrin. "I forgot all about it. All right," she arose and brandished the pistol. "Start changing that tire before I—before I—let daylight through you!"

"Do it slow!" Sari begged meekly, getting the jack set under the axle and turning the handle vigorously.

Thus, Sari got the tire changed and they again set out—with Judy still in possession of the unloaded pistol, and with their relative positions as captor and captive unchanged.

FURRY FRIENDS NEED AID
Homes for Hounds Sought

LAGUNA BEACH.—Calling all pet lovers! There are plenty of furry "friends to man" waiting in the Animal Shelter for human companionship, according to humane society workers here.

Listed under Humane Officer Fred Walters' care are three black kittens, one gray part-Persian kitten, one female Persian, a 4-month-old Gordon setter female pup, a male Chow pup, a wire-haired terrier male (2 years old), and a large foxhound.

The humane society desires that anyone wishing the foxhound should place him in a home with large grounds or a school in the country. These animals should be taken care of before it becomes necessary to do away with them in the customary way after their stay in the shelter has expired, Walters stated.

In desperation he laid the matter and the mysterious paper before Chief of Police H. F. Grant, who after due deliberation, opened the envelope and found enclosed a formal invitation on Long Beach City stationery from Mayor Tom Eaton to Mayor Willis Warner to attend the International Festival of Water Sports there July 16, 17 and 18!

H. B. SCHOOL BANQUET IS SUCCESS

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—The annual distinguished service banquet, which is attended by high school students who have done outstanding work in scholastic, athletic, or other extra-curricular activities, was held Friday night at the high school.

The traffic on the highway was the evening's theme. The general committee under the direction of Miss Jacqueline Brier of the faculty included Marian Reeves, June Elliott, Gale Bergey, James Nagamatsu, and Richard Beeson. James Gilmore was master of ceremonies.

Representatives from the different scholastic organizations on the program were Ray Thomas, student government; Charles Little George, Girls' league; Paula Lowry, Tri-Y; Kenneth Lake, Hi-Y; Sylvia Coker, girls' athletics; Gale Bergey, boys' athletics. Emblems were awarded by Raymond Elliott, vice-principal, and pins by M. G. Jones, principal.

More than 100 planes came and go daily at the Newark, N. J., airport, said to be the busiest flying field in the world.

"Crowning Glory" for any Table

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

Give your table this "crowning glory" of lace and all will marvel at your handiwork! Crochet the exquisite flower-like medallions of string, one at a time, until by joining them, you have a large enough piece to use as cloth, spread, scarf or whatever article you desire. You can also make stunning pillow tops and chair sets of these 5½-inch medallions, or put them to work as separate doilies. In pattern 5776 you will find complete instructions for making the medallion shown; an illustration of it and of all the stitches used; material requirements; a photograph of the medallion.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth St., Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

Trailers Another National Problem

THE big national trailer convention which has just closed at Huntington Beach calls attention to the fact that America's trailer problem is growing by leaps and bounds—or by jolts and bounces, if you prefer.

According to the department of commerce, last year 53,000 trailers, costing $27,000,000, were sold in this country. Twice that number will be sold this year.

All these trailers aren't on the road at once, of course, but on any given day a fair-sized city-on-wheels is spread out over the nation.

These homes on wheels present dozens of new problems in American life. Where shall trailer families pay taxes? What about school for their children? Where shall they vote?

These and other questions rise to confuse officials, although the biggest question of all, in the mind of each trailer family, is—where shall we park tonight?

Since all states cannot be expected to pass uniform trailer laws, it is probable that the final solution will be some government regulation, through interstate commerce legislation, to settle problems that will arise as long as we have automobiles.

All of which is no great worry to the present happy crew of trailer families nor to hospitable Southern California which welcomes them here along with millions of other guests. But one of these days the question must be solved.

A new $1,000,000 factory has been announced for Watts, Calif. It will be completed in time for a sit-down strike this fall.

Supervisors Going To Extremes

PUZZLED citizens are beginning to wonder just how far the supervisors are going to carry this battle over typewriters. The board already has received a ruling from District Attorney Menton that it has no right to control what kind of machines are purchased by elective officials.

It already has been advised by Judge Scovel in superior court that it does not have this right.

And now it is taking the case to the district court of appeal.

Perhaps if it loses again there, it will go to the state supreme court and thence on to the U. S. high bench and ask an opinion from the nine old men.

Meanwhile the cost of special attorneys and court fees is running higher and higher, valuable county time is being wasted, the price of typewriters is going up—and the taxpayer is footing the bill for all the fun.

When and where is it going to stop?

Those department of agriculture scientists who discovered a way to age brandy in 6 days are just 17 years behind prohibition-era bootleggers.

New Fronts On Downtown Stores

BRIGHTEST sign of better times in Santa Ana is the great amount of remodeling and reconditioning of store fronts in the business district. Every way you look, some enterprising business man or building owner is doing his bit to improve the appearance of things.

Antiquated fronts with their giegaws, gingerbread, cornices and whatnots are giving way to modern 1937 model structural changes.

This marked improvement is especially valuable in attracting out-of-town and tourist trade here. Nowadays when most everyone has an automobile, it's so easy to say, "I don't like the looks of this old town." And step on the gas. Twenty miles is just a trifle.

As the new fronts go up, it is important that they be influenced by some sort of general architectural standard for the sake of the general harmonious appearance of the downtown district. Possibly there's a thought here for our progressive retail merchants.

The Spanish war has progressed to the point where it is no longer necessary to manufacture atrocity stories. They come ready made.

Restaurant Report Cards

HEALTH officials in Englewood, N. J., have pleased citizens mightily with their new system of report cards for restaurants.

Each restaurant must have its report nailed just inside the door. It is graded on half a dozen different points—sterilization of glasses, cleanliness of uniforms of attendants, the manner in which food is handled, and similar points of good service.

Patrons can see just exactly what sort of service they are going to get, before they pay for it.

The scheme is working, with low grade restaurants losing out, and the others striving mightily to get "A" ratings.

Englewood's idea would work in other cities, too.

Al Smith talked to Mussolini in Rome. Wonder if he is any better satisfied with Il Duce than he is with F. D. R.

S. A. Fire Department Sets Record

WITH this city ranking lowest in California in per capita fire loss, and third lowest in the U. S. A., Chief John Luxembourger and his capable fire laddies can afford to stick the well-known feather in their hats.

Fire loss here last year was only 11 cents per capita. You get an idea of how low that is when you consider that Bakersfield's loss was $5.24 and Huntington Park's $3.77 per person.

When the new $12,000 pumper, just purchased by the city, arrives here for duty, this community will be even better guarded than before against the fire demon.

Diary: A joint postal card from Fanny Hurst and Bob and Madge Davis, whose paths had crossed in Florence, an outrageously ribald communique from Mickey Neilan and a note from my favorite drummer boy, Jack Powell, in London. So breakfasting on fried chicken Frank V. Jones air mailed from Kentucky.

At my desk but mostly gazing at the Chatham across the roofs, hoping to wave to Bill Corum, the duelist. And then to idle among the Madison avenue shops, meeting up with Aubrey Eads, who calls himself a rag merchant, and we sat awhile in the St. Regis quaffing a cowl of seitzer and lime.

To dinner at Papa Moneta's who told me of losing his money and almost his business during recent black days, but now back in stride. Then home and talking to Percy Crosby on his Virginia estate over the telephone, and listening to "Vox Pop," now one of my favorite wireless programs.

Books are being written and newspaper editorials are reflecting a sudden return to religion. And for some reason not accountable, save general world unrest, churchmen in the metropolitan area have noticed a sharp attendance increase, especially at morning services. The noon-day services at Trinity for brokers often overflows. Indeed the gain is general and no denomination has been neglected. In the apartment house where I live the doorman tells me there has been a steady rise in the neighborhood among those who "dress up and go to services."

Serious minded movie goers are huffing and puffing over what they call the "after theater high hats." They are those in evening clothes who go to such movie houses as Music Hall, the Capitol and Paramount after the play to kill off a little time before night clubs swing into high. It is declared they are not only noisy but poke fun at the screen players and otherwise spoil the picture for those who have come to enjoy and behave themselves.

The three better known headwaiters in town are probably Rene Black of the Waldorf, Gene of the Colony and Theodore Szarvas. Each of them knows the various gradations of society as perfectly as Cholly Knickerbocker. And thus are able to prevent the seating of some recent divorcee with her newest husband at a table adjoining her former husband and his newest flame. The wealthiest is Gene who is part owner of the Colony and has a vast palazzo with hunting grounds in Italy. Theodore, until he took a tumble in the market in 1929, was also well fixed. Theodore Tizze, after celebrated headwaiter in his day, now conducts his own restaurant as does Bernard at The Mascotte.

Often a columnist gets off innocently enough on the wrong foot. Recently in an attempt to praise the flibberty-gibberty talk that constitutes much of the facetious art of the actress Mary Boland, I wrote something like this: "If Mary Boland talked that way off the stage she'd drive a person nuts." Evidently Miss Boland regarded it as a back-handed compliment, for she didn't wait to write; she telegraphed: "If you talk as you write you'd drive me nuts."

Bagatelles: J. P. Morgan likes to travel around flower shops and never misses daily attendance at the flower show. . . Clyde Beatty, if the animals don't get him, expects to retire eventually to an Ohio farm. . . Sinclair Lewis likes to go to a strange city to write his novels. . . Arthur Samuels is hauling off to publish a magazine this fall when his backer died suddenly. . . George Gershwin is putting his savings into fine paintings. . . Edgar Bergen, the ventriloquist, was getting ready to give up his act when he was catapulted into an amazing vogue. . . Jack Dempsey and his cave backers are bowing coldly.

There is rough and ready badinage in those sporty little cafes off Broadway. In one the other evening an annoying patron called out: "What do you have to do in this dump to get a glass of water?" And from a nearby booth someone replied: "Try setting yourself on fire!"

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—There are going to be fireworks in the tax evasion investigation that gets under way shortly. Not only is the treasury shortly to the hilt with spectacular evidence, but the White House is hell-bent to bring it into the open for all to see.

The eminence and number of the big names involved will be eye-popping. Not since the sensational Pecora banking investigation of 1933 has Washington seen anything as hot as the spectacle being prepared behind the scenes in the tax law.

Nationally known bankers, industrialists, publishers, and particularly lawyers will be hailed before the joint congressional committee and confronted with charges that will make smashing headlines—but not the kind to bring them any cheers. One revelation that will definitely and forcibly be brought out by the investigation is the fact that some of the harshest critics of the New Deal, and most zealous clamorers for economy, are among the worst offenders in evading the tax laws.

LATEST PHASE

Actually, the forthcoming probe is only the latest phase of the administration's offensive against wealthy taxpayers.

It has been quietly gunning for them with considerable success for several years. In fact, only 24 hours before the President sent his blistering message to congress calling for an investigation, Secretary Henry Morgenthau laid a $20,000,000 scarp on his desk—one of the juiciest tax recovery prizes on record.

The case involved the estate of the late William Waldorf Astor, who left the U. S. and became a British viscount. When he died in 1919 the internal revenue bureau slapped a $10,000,000 assessment on $46,000,000 worth of New York real estate, which three months before, he had bequeathed over to his two sons, Waldorf, Jr., and John Jacob.

The government contended that the transfer was made "in anticipation of death to escape inheritance taxes."

The Astors paid the tax under protest, and then threw the matter into the courts. It was battled for 10 years, until finally, in 1930, a judge in the District of Columbia federal court decided in their favor. He held that the huge transfer of property had not been made "in anticipation of death," ordered the government to repay the tax.

NO APPEAL

The obvious next step for the government was to appeal the case. But for some mysterious reason this was not done.

Secretary of the treasury at the time was Andrew W. Mellon, who now has a $3,000,000 tax evasion suit pending against him.

Nothing further happened until Morgenthau was installed in the treasury. With the active backing of Internal Revenue Collector Guy Helvering, he began a vigorous drive to clean up the tax rolls. To the Astors' demand for repayment of the $10,000,000 plus 6 per cent interest—a total of $20,000,000—he countered with a suit charging tax evasion.

The Astors employed John W. Davis, one-time Democratic presidential nominee and leading Liberty League, to handle their case. In the ensuing battle the government won in the circuit court. Davis then appealed to the supreme court, which ordered the controversy back for a new trial.

Because it had lost the first trial before a judge, the government this time insisted on a jury trial. The decision was a wise one. A New York jury held for the government, thus saving the treasury exactly $20,000,000.

HOW TO DO IT

The Astor tax trial brought to light some illuminating details on how taxes are evaded.

The government read into the record a deposition from Sir John Coode-Adams, Astor's secretary, telling how Astor avoided paying stiff Italian export duties on valuable jewels.

The gems were at Astor's villa at Sorrento, overlooking the famed Bay of Naples. Sir John went there personally with his daughter, who then wore the jewels on the return trip out of the country as "personal adornments," thus escaping taxation. Upon their arrival in London her father handed the gems over to his titled employee.

Note: Viscount Astor was the father-in-law of Lady Nancy Astor, the American-born member of parliament. In a letter introduced in the tax trial he expressed a low opinion of women in politics.

INCORPORATED YACHTS

The President's rate charge that yachts were being incorporated as "business" for tax-dodging purposes cast the shadow of suspicion on a large number of wealthy owners of pleasure craft.

The yacht register of the U. S. bureau of navigation lists several hundred vessels owned by corporations. The records also disclose that in the last few years there has been a constant increase in the number of incorporated yachts. All the ships registered as pleasure yachts and cannot be used for commercial purposes.

One of the largest incorporated yachts is the "Rene," a 945-ton, 206-foot vessel, carrying a crew of 39 and listed as owned by the Rene Corporation. The owner's address is given as the General Motors Building, Manhattan. Lloyd's Yacht Register of several years ago lists the owner as Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of General Motors Corporation.

Another incorporated yacht is the "Zapala," owned by Sapelo Plantations, Georgia. Bureau records show that several years ago, prior to incorporation, the owner was listed as Howard E. Coffin, prominent auto and aviation magnate. Coffin entertained Presidents Coolidge and Hoover at his island estate off the Georgia coast.

The "Lotusland," 682 tons, 185 feet in length, and carrying a crew of 35, is registered in the name of the Lotusland Corporation of Delaware.

Prior to the incorporation the owner was listed as Colonel E. A. Deeds, big industrialist and clubman of New York.

LOVELY GIRLS

To the Editor: If people would realize home ties once severed are hard to reunite, many a person would not destroy that which was granted to him by a higher power than his own.

Do not break them. Leave well enough alone. To quote from one who in life was most dear to me, "Think not of the past but live for the future."

Trusting I offend no one, I now write of those who might be called "The Girls from the Land of No-where."

Drives of young women come to Southern California each year. They hire a 2x6 room and then look for a job. Some succeed, others do not. But one thing most of them do is flock to the bright lights which in fancy seem like a giant web that promises every thing one could desire, but which seldom keeps its promise. It is the writer's opinion that after a few months have passed more than one girl thinks it strange that her name is not in lights.

About this time the chances are she no longer has to try to reduce for regardless of what the man by her side may be saying, or the odor of stale beer and cigarettes, a plate of bacon and eggs from the old home place would be very welcome to her now. Even if it were lacking of riotous things and way out in the land of nowhere, in the vast majority of cases she had something granted to her there that she has not found elsewhere, true love and affection. For the words of the old song are as true today as when they were first written, "Be It Ever So Humble, There's No Place Like Home."

C. F. ELLISON.

WHERE'S THE LAW?

To the Editor: President Frick of the National League "fines" two St. Louis baseball players $50 each for action on the ball field "tending to incite riot." And there was a riot, some 15 players engaging in a bloody battle.

What about the police courts of St. Louis handling rioters, or more vigorous drive to clean up the tax rolls. To the Astors' demand for repayment of the $10,000,000 plus 6 per cent interest—a total of $20,000,000—he countered with a suit charging tax evasion.

The Astors employed John W. Davis, one-time Democratic presidential nominee and leading Liberty League, to handle their case. In the ensuing battle the government won in the circuit court. Davis then appealed to the supreme court, which ordered the controversy back for a new trial.

Orange county has gone buggie, I'm glad of it. One little bug is not supposed to make life as "snug as a bug in a rug," but to literally eat the other out of his house and home. Not long ago a representative from a government laboratory went to South Africa to find a bug who loved the red scale bug like a communist loves a fascist. That's enough to start a fight. He came back with several varieties, and the fight is on, oh buggie soldier. Red scale has inflicted a heavy penalty on citrus groves. The test is now being made as to whether the imported bug will solve the problem.

I went to the Horse Show but forgot to take my blanket along. Consequently no official entry recorded, and no blue ribbon.

The little fellows who invade the residential districts with ice cream confections report trade a little off color, due to the frequency of gray days. The market opens slow and closes slower. Some complaint comes in from the beaches, and I haven't found the dealers in "summer things" showing any exuberance over the disappearance of the sunshine which is supposed to favor this particular part of California. But somewhere the sun is shining, and our turn will come along, so keep smiling!

Culver City wants to change its name to Hollywood and it looks like all they are getting out of it is a roller-skate.

Orange County Forty-and-Eight, and I don't see why it couldn't have been Forty-and-Nine if they hadn't run out of box cars, is borrowing the Santa Ana American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps to put on a charity concert at the Legion hall June 7, 8 and 9. I can't say any date I have an admission ticket, so I am informed by my elongated friend "Sully" Sullivan. Those boys should have a noisy time.

And then it was the umpire who struck out Dizzy Dean.

And then there was the fellow who picked some 800 boxes of oranges and got a 42 per cent pack, and he was so surprised that he was happy. But it only goes to prove that where there was no frost before there is now.

Variation in fenn temperatures. One "mad" at the weather, and another planning for week-end at the beach regardless of the weather, with optimistic sunshine viewpoint. Oh, well, we usually get what we are looking for.

What is one man's profit is another man's loss. Ever bet on a horse race?

The annual delinquent tax list has made its appearance. Noticed a few copies lying on the business office counter. If you want to see if "your name is written there," come in and get a copy without charge and without comment—unless you feel like you want to talk about it. Being a publication of 24 pages there is really something to talk about.

Sperdy flour representative tried to introduce me to a friend named Hopscropenserosqu, and he couldn't do it. So they are not friends any more.

The best cure for a chronic weather complaint is to go back to the old home state. And if you think the weather and business is not good here, find out how it is "back there." You can only appreciate conditions by comparison. I wish they were better here, but I'm not going where they are worse; not if I can help it.

Invited to attend orchard heater demonstrations at Placentia, Anaheim, Orange and Tustin. Guess I'll send Carl Edgar.

Met a tenant of the wide open spaces a few days ago who, imbued with the poetic atmosphere of his location, apparently without boundaries, started to recite "Out Where the West Begins," and the loyalty of the home-town boys developed some competition. So they launched their "Down Where the West Begins" and then they all compromised by going to the picture show.

I've decided I have a baseball friend. Called on him three times Saturday and he was out.

Santa Ana man home from a trip to the bay district where bridges are famous, under pressure reports nice weather. He tried to confine his remarks to bridges but was forced into the open and reluctantly confessed to climate conditions entirely out of proportion with what we usually are able to claim for this part of the state. That's tough. It isn't so bad to yield to super-ridge construction because there isn't any need for competition here, but when we forfeit our superiority in climate, that's going too far. Oh, well, one of these days we'll build a bridge from San Pedro to Catalina Islands. Guess that'll hold 'em.

SIoux FALLS.—Partial returns indicate that Roosevelt won in yesterday's primary, and will have the whole state delegation. Taft was third, La Follette polling a large vote. Indications are that Wilson won the Democratic preference, two sets of delegates handicapping Clark.

Col. S. H. Finley and John Cubbon, representing the Santa Ana Automobile association, today appeared before the supervisors to ask that repairs be made on the direct road through the county leading to San Diego, particularly below Capistrano. The men were informed that a change in contemplation which will mean the straightening of the road below Capistrano will render it impossible to repair the present road.

The first tryout for members of the Y. M. C. A. cross country relay team for the range June 15 was held and resulted in selection of about 30 runners. Some fast time was made, Raymond Atkinson making the half in 2:15, Bertram West in 2:20 and Dana Keech in 2:21.

Supervisor H. E. Smith was today appointed a committee of one to confer with the Santa Ana city council relative to arranging for

One Man's Opinion

Whether you like Bing Crosby's brand of singing or whether you don't, you'll be interested in a motion that is about to be put before the house.

In the morning if—note the "if"—I turn on my radio to catch the 6 o'clock calisthenics broadcast, Bing is on deck, breathing gentle nothing musically out upon the soft morning air.

And if, at midnight that night, I twirl the magic dial to learn if maybe Hitler has shaved off his mustache since the evening papers went to press, there's ol' faithful Bing, putting us all to bed with a dolefully dulcet doggerel concerning some brown-skinned maiden of the South seas.

If, before and after each song by Bing a beneficent law compelled announcement that "this is a phonograph record," perhaps it wouldn't be so tiring.

Radio transmission of phonograph records being what it is, and the records themselves being almost perfect, counterfeits of the human voice, the feeble human senses may very easily make the mistake of supposing that Crosby in person is on the red, blue, pink, gray and other networks and on
